CLAIM RACE PREJUDICE, JAPAN ISSUE

Leading Japanese Discuss Movement in California

OKUMA HOPEFUL OF SETTLEMENT

Admiral Sato Favors Preparednses For Contingencies

TOKYO, Oct. 8.—Leading Japanese politicians and business men have expressed their views on the relations between America and Japan in statements published in newspapers or magazines here in connection with the visit of the American Congressional party.

Both Marquis Okuma, formerly premier and Viscount Kato, formerly minister of foreign affairs and president of the Kenseikai or opposition party, assert that the anti-Japanese movement in California is a question of racial prejudice. Statements by both are published in the Tokyo Asahi.

Marquis Okuma described the California situation as "one of the most knotty tangles that the United States and Japan will have to unravel. It can be traced to racial prejudice combined with economic jealousy.

Disliked for Qualities

"Exclusion of the Japanese settlers is insisted on because they are quick at saving money or in developing their business, with the result that the American finds it difficult to compete. With this creeps a feeling in the minds of the Americans that the Japanese, if left alone, will soon establish their influence in the entire district west of the Rockies."

The Marquis sees a possibility of reaching a happy settlement.

Viscount Kato declares that since the anti-Japanese question in America is one of racial prejudice, it "must be settled by the Americans themselves, Japan should hold herself responsible only when wrongs are done by the Japanese immigrants."

Prepare for Contingency

Vice-Admiral Sato, in an article in the Taiyo takes Americans to task for calling Japan a country of militarists, which he denies.

"I am one of those who is firmly convinced that Japan and America should never fight," he concludes, "but I am also a strong advocate of Japan being prepared to meet any contingency. There is no need for Japan to have military machines superior to those of America, but Japan should have enough to convince the United States that it would be an extremely expensive and risky matter to take up arms agains against Japan. To insure peace it would be well if both countries have some understanding regarding their military preparations and thus disarm useless suspicions."

DRY SUPERVISOR RELIEVED, BAY

Mrs. G. K. Warburton Is Succeeded By Considine

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—Mrs. G. K. Warburton, holding a temporary appointment as federal prohibition supervisor for California, was relieved of her position today through a telegram sent her by Commissioner of Internal Revenue William M. Williams.

The telegram said that John L. Considine, the federal district prohibition supervisor, would take over Mrs. Warburton's post under a temporary appointment.

Mrs. Warburton made the telegram public with the announcement:

"I am glad to be relieved."

She said she expected to be returned to her former position as executive assistant to the state prohibition supervisor.

Mrs. Warburton's removal followed the presentation of evidence to the federal grand jury yesterday that a conspiracy of former whisky brokers and others had been formed here for the purpose of illegally withdrawing liquor stocks from bonded warehouses. Mrs. Warburton denied all knowledge of such operations.

Attempts to Wreck Logging Train, Held

ASHLAND, Wis., Oct. 8.—The wrecking of a logging train with the destruction of $50,000 worth of property and loss of life was narrowly avoided yesterday on Bad River Reservation when Herman Nelson was captured as he was placing an obstruction on a seventy-foot bridge. Nelson, who says he is a western miner, working in copper mines recently near Salt Lake, obtained employment at Odanah three weks ago. Since his arrival a number of incendiary forest fires have been discovered.

He claims to have come from Russia 12 years ago.

ROME, Oct. 8.—Eight Sardinian families which have been principals in a vendetta for 65 years have become reconciled, according to reports in the Giornale d'Italia. (Since the feud began there have been 75 murders and much property damage done by members of the families involved. The bishop of Tempio, where most of the families reside, officiated at the ceremony of reconciliation.

CHINESE MANDATE TO RUSSIA ONLY SUSPENDS PACTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—A foreign office statement made public tonight by the Chinese Legation said that the recent Chinese mandate revoking diplomatic recognition of Russian representatives in China "does not terminate the treaties between China and Russia, or such rights as are derived from the treaties." It added that the treaty regulations were "merely suspended for the time being."

Publication of the mandate led to inquiry by the state department as to its exact meaning and at the same time steps toward a joint protest by the United States and other governments against acceptance by China of a surrender of all treaty rights offered by the Russian soviet authorities.

The foreign office statement says it is an enunciation of "the declared policy" of the Chinese government and adds arrival in Peking of representatives of the Verkhne-Udinsk government had "no connection with the withdrawal of official recognition from Russian diplomatic and consular officers." China, it says, maintains "a policy of non-interference" in Russian international affairs, "in conjunction with the allied and associated powers."

China proposes, according to the statement, "to protect and administer the Russian settlements as well as Russian property until such time as a proper Russian government is established and recognized."

"The Russian settlements" have been placed under Chinese commissioners of foreign affairs for administration and no change in previous practices is now contemplated, the statement said.

SAYS BIBLE IS SOCIAL DYNAMIC

Prof. Dosker Speaks to Sunday School Congress at Tokyo

TOKYO, Oct. 8.—What saves the world today in the crisis through which it is passing is the "social dynamic" of the Bible, declared Professor Henry E. Dosker of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary of Kentucky in an address here tonight before the delegates to the World's Sunday School Congress.

"A complete break with it," said the speaker, "would spell a return to paganism and chaos. A comparison between Christian and non-Christian lands at once indicates the forces of this dynamic. Could resolutions like these, adopted by American representatives of more than 30 Protestant denominations, ever be adopted anywhere in the world, except under the banner of Christianity? I mention a few of the principles enunciated:

"'Equal rights and complete justice for all men.

"'Protection of the family by a standard of morality, binding on men and women alike.

"'Abolition of all child-labor.

"'Absolute antagonism to the drink traffic for the protection of society.

"'The right and opportunity for self-maintenance for all.

"'A living wage for all workers.

"'The application of Christian principles to the acquisition of property.'

"Could anyone dream of such principles as the outcropping of non-Christian religion or ethics? Here then the social dynamic of the Bible is in full operation. Where does woman cease to be the man's plaything and take her place by his side, as his true helpmate, but here under the operation of this social dynamic? Where does the child attain its full rights but here? Where does education flourish free alike to rich and poor? Where do all men have an equal chance? Where do we find hospitals, asylums and charitable institutions? Where does human right reach its highest level and achieve its greatest results, but here?

"The ideals expressed in the Scriptures, venerable with age as they are, are still aquiver with interest for our own day and our own environment."

Bakersfield Man Dies, Knife Wounds

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Oct. 8.—Allen Hession, a San Francisco salesman, died here today from knife wounds received last Tuesday night in a local pool hall. He told the officers that a Filipino whom he did not know stabbed him without warning or provocation. Hession was about 35 years old, and leaves a brother, Albert Hession, who resides in Detroit, Mich. The police are holding two Chinamen who were in the pool hall as witnesses, but no trace has been found of the Filipino.

Army Truck Train to Visit Valley

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—The United States army truck train which arrived here Wednesday from Washington, D. C., left this morning at 7 o'clock for San Francisco by way of Bakersfield and San Joaquin valley points.

Los Angeles was the official terminus of the tour, which was undertaken to determine the practicability of the Bankhead highway route, and to test various types of trucks and equipment, but it was decided to extend the tour to San Francisco before returning the officers and men of the convoy to their various stations.

Superior Judge to Leave Bench First Monday in January

Stephens Pays Fine Tribute to Fresno Attorney Selected

(Special to the Republican)

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 8.—Governor Stephens today announced that he will appoint Sidney L. Strother of Fresno to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Judge H. Z. Austin of Fresno county. Governor Stephens has been advised by Judge Austin that it is his intention to resign on the first Monday in January.

Strother was a member of the last session of the assembly.

"He is a man of scholarly attainments, a thorough and learned lawyer, and possesses in a marked degree the qualities of sound and strong integrity," said the governor. "I shall appoint Strother because of his personal worth and because of many strong recommendations I have received in his behalf from Fresno."

Informed last night by the Republican of his selection, Strother said he would reserve comment until he had received official notification of his appointment. Any statement at this time, he thought, would be untimely, as he had only the press report as information.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 8.—Sidney L. Strother, a member of the assembly of the 1919 legislature, will be appointed superior judge of Fresno county, succeeding Judge H. Z. Austin, who intends to resign November 1, an announcement from Governor Stephens today said.

Judge Austin retires after twenty years on the bench to assume an executive connection with a Fresno bank.

P. G. & E. SEEKS LOCAL POWER

Asks Permission to Buy Surplus From San Joaquin Co.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8—Completion of the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation of the Kerckhoff Power plant in Fresno county and steam plants at Bakersfield and Midway having made available electric energy beyond the needs of this company, the Pacific Gas and Electric Company applied to the Railroad Commission today to authorize an agreement for the Pacific Company to buy the excess energy from the San Joaquin. The commission was asked to approve a plan by which the Pacific company will advance to the San Joaquin corporation sufficient funds to construct a transmission line from the Kerckhoff plant to the San Joaquin sub-station at Merced. Delivery to the Pacific company would be made at Newman.

NO INCREASE IN WINE DIVIDENDS

Unscrupulous Brokers Blamed For Rumors; 1920 Rate Fixed

(Special to the Republican)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—Contrary to rumors, there is to be no immediate increase in dividend rates by the California Wine Association. Because of the many reports recently circulated that the rate was to be advanced, California Wine, common, has been very active, ex-dividend at 165 being extensively dealt in. M. J. Fontana, president of the association, made public here today a statement to stockholders in which he says reports of increased dividends soon is "wholly false," and that no such action is contemplated. Mr. Fontana blames unscrupulous brokers for the prevalence of the rumor persistently circulated on the "street."

"The present dividend rate," he says, "has been fixed for 1920, and thereafter unchanged by the board."

President Fontana adds that, if it is decided at any time "hereafter" to increase or lower the present rate, advance notice in writing will be given to all association stockholders, so no advantage can be taken of anyone.

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Oct. 8.—Officials of the Rideout Bank of Marysville swore out a warrant for the arrest of Frank Miller, a negro janitor and night watchman in connection with the disappearance of $6500 in currency which they said had been left outside the bank vault last night by one of the clerks. CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 8.—The war ministry here was stormed twice today by the wives of Turkish war prisoners and unpaid officers who demand money. CONFESSION IS FALSE, DENTON

Identification of Victim's Body Complete; Inquest

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—Joseph Rodriguez, 23, who made a statement yesterday that he killed Jacob C. Denton, Los Angeles Capitalist, today told the police that the statement was false and that he wished to repudiate it in every particular, according to an announcement by Captain of Police J. J. O'Meara.

Captain of Police J. J. O'Meara said Rodriguez September 28 concocted the details of a plot whereby George Shima, the Japanese "potato king," was to be destroyed, going to the Japanese consulate here and detailing the fictitious plot. Department of Justice and police officials conducted a brief investigation and found Rodriguez false in every particular.

Captain O'Meara said he would try to hold Rodriguez here for trial on the kidnaping charge. It was indicated in police circles that Rodriguez hoped that his "confession" would compel his return to Los Angeles and that the charges against him there would be dropped.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—Identification of the body of Jacob C. Denton, found buried in the cellar of his home here two weeks ago was completed today, according to an announcement by W. H. Doran, chief deputy district attorney, and Raymond L. Turney, assistant deputy. It was stated that until today the authorities were not sufficiently sure of the identification to proceed with an inquest. The inquest, it was announced, will be held tomorrow morning.

The stumbling point in the identification, Mr. Doran said, was that several persons who claimed to have known Denton well said joints of two fingers were missing from one of his hands. The fingers of the body found were intact. Mr. Doran said a careful questioning of relatives of Denton convinced him none of Denton's fingers were mutilated.

A fracture in the arm of the dead man corresponded to one known to have been suffered by Denton several years ago and a gold tooth in the jaw of the body was pronounced by relatives to be identical with one in the mouth of Denton. The features of the body were unrecognizable.

CHARGE FRAUD AT ELECTION

Sacramento Grand Jury Indicts Precinct Officials

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 8.—George Radonich, saloon-keeper, and for many years a political leader in Chinatown district of the city, his wife, Mrs. Christina Radonich and Mrs. Ursula Bethwell, all members of the election board in precinct 51 in the August primary election were indicted today by the county grand jury on charges of fraud.

A fourth indictment against a man whose identity has not been disclosed was placed on the secret file. Bond was fixed at $5,000 cash. The indictment against the two women contained nine counts.

The investigation of the grand jury, which has been proceeding for two weeks, resulted from the discovery that some dozen voters, whose names appeared on the polling roster at the primary, had not gone to the polls on election day. Most of them were said to have been out of the city.

The indictments charge that the three election officers forged the names of the voters on the roster and cast ballots for them in the primary.

Radonich has for years been a prominent figure in Sacramento city and county politics.

Rotarians Attend Livestock Show

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—Rotary clubs of ten Southern California cities sent delegations to the Los Angeles Livestock Show today, headed by Leslie S. Everts of San Diego, district governor of the twenty-third district of the International Rotary clubs. The places represented were Los Angeles, San Diego, Santa Ana, Long Beach, Redlands, Riverside, San Bernardino, Pasadena, Ventura and Santa Barbara.

Many city schools closed while pupils went to the show, the exhibits of which were explained by farm advisors of the Board of Education.

APPORTIONMENT OF SEATS WILL FOLLOW CENSUS

Increases in West and South Expected to Gian

Precedent Shows California May Be Allowed Five More

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(By the Associated Press) Examination of the final census figures of the country which place the total population of the continental United States at 105,683,108, indicates that the west and the south proportionately will gain more in a political way than the east or middle west through increased membership in the house of representatives, more votes in the electoral college and in larger delegations to the national political conventions.

This result will obtain whatever basis of apportionment is adopted by congress next winter, fixing the size of the next house, which in turn is reflected in the electoral college and the conventions of the big political parties.

As a result of the increase of 13,710,842 in population during the past ten years, 60 new seats could be added to the house. Should the present membership of 435 be left unchanged by increasing the basis of apportionment, there will have to be a transfer of 13 seats, now held by 13 states, to nine other states.

For the past half-century the precedent has been to increase the size of the house so as to prevent loss of existing representation by any state.

Five More Seats for California

If this precedent is followed this year, five additional representatives seats must be given to California, four each for New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Michigan; three to Illinois and Texas, two to Massachusetts, New Jersey and North Carolina, and one each to Alabama, Arizona, Connecticut, Georgia, Maryland, Montana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Virginia, Arkansas and Minnesota.

Congressional leaders are strongly opposed to any large increase in the house, as they regard the present membership of 435 as too unwieldy. When the house census committee, headed by Representative Siegel of New York, begins consideration of the problem, efforts will be made to hold down the increase, but pressure for the increase is expected to come from the states which would benefit from a larger house. The present apportionment basis is 221,577 inhabitants or its major fraction to the congressional district.

Limited House to 435

By holding the house membership to 435, gains would be distributed with three to California, two to Michigan and Ohio, and one each to Connecticut, New Jersey, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Texas and Washington. To offset these gains, Missouri would be forced to lose two congressmen, while Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Mississippi, Nebraska, Rhode Island, Vermont and Virginia would lose one each. All other states would retain their present numerical delegations in congress.

At the last session of congress some Republican leaders expressed opposition to any change in the house that would be of profit to the south. However, the new census does not indicate that the south can be affected without a corresponding effect on states where the Republicans might not be inclined to reduce the delegations.

By fixing the apportionment basis so that Maine and Missouri would each lose one seat, the increased population of the country as represented in congress can be absorbed by a net increase of 27 seats. The apportionment basis then would be 218,582 or major fraction, and seventeen states would absorb the net increase, as also the two seats lost by Maine and Missouri. These gains would be distributed with California getting four; Michigan, Ohio and New York three; Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Texas two; and Arkansas, Connecticut, Georgia, Illinois, Massachusetts, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Washington and Wisconsin one each.

It may be decided to hold the net increase to less than a score, which might be accomplished by causing Missouri to lose two seats, and Iowa, Kentucky, Maine and Indiana one each. The apportionment would be 234,257 inhabitants to the congressional district with a net increase of 14 in the size of the House. These seats and those lost by Missouri, Iowa, Kentucky, Maine and Indiana, would be distributed as follows.

California four; Michigan and Ohio three; Texas two and Connecticut, Illinois, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and Washington one each.

Regardless of the apportionment basis the swing in political power will be first toward the Pacific Coast and the Rocky Mountain states, followed by the south, the east and the middlewest. California's big gain in inhabitants in the last ten years accounts for most of the swing toward the coast.

ADMITS FRICTION AMONG SOVIETS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Existence of friction among elements of the communist party in Russia was admitted by M. Zinovieff, member of the central executive committee of the party, at the all-Russian conference of the body just held at Petrograd, according to dispatches today received by the State department.

Poverty, lack of food, and the gloomy military situation were given by Zinovieff as the chief cause of dissatisfaction.

According to the reports, Zinovieff was alarmed by the gathering tendency toward bureaucracy among the soviets.

Other dispatches to the department today said reports in Warsaw indicated serious disturbances of an anti-bolshevik character in the Ukraine. The army of General Pawlenko, which crossed the Sbruez about September 23 and was recently reported to be near Winnica, has pushed on into the interior.

ARTICLE TEN GETS FORCE OF HARDING ATTACK ON LEAGUE

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 8.—A day of militant campaigning against the Paris League of Nations was closed by Senator Harding tonight with a speech here replying directly to the appeal for League support recently addressed to voters by President Wilson.

Answering the president's declaration that the League covenant would not take from Congress the power to declare war, the Republican nominee pronounced the obligations of Article Ten so clear and unmistakable that Congress would be compelled to fulfill the or bring dishonor on the nation.

"The obligation is absolute and unqualified", said Mr. Harding, "Whenever certain specified circumstances arose, no matter how much we might regret it, we would have to keep our promise or sneak out of it. Let no one be deceived; the choice would be between two things, war or dishonor".

Bitter on Article Ten

Article Ten bore the brunt of the candidate's attack in his address here, but during the day in other Iowa and Missouri cities he aimed his blows at many other parts of the covenant. The whole scheme he characterized as a "militaristic" alliance, which in actual operation in Europe had shown itself "not worth a continental".

"The League that we are not going to have", was the way he described it at St. Joseph. While the crowd cheered, he repeated that he did not favor entering the Paris League, and promised that as President, he never would submit a League or association of nations containing "anything like Article Ten."

In other speeches he assailed the covenant's provisions on the Monroe Doctrine, voting power in the League, the withdrawal privilege, and labor. Stressing the labor feature in a talk to packing house employés at South St. Joseph, he declared he wanted no covenant that would drag American labor standards down to those of the old world.

Makes Eleven Speeches

The Senator made eleven speeches, including seven in Missouri, long a bitterly contested sector of the League fight. The Senator's special train arrived in Kansas City late in the day and the Senator rode to a hotel for dinner through crowds that kept up a wave of cheering. Leaving immediately after his night address, he will arrive at Wichita, Kansas for a forenoon meeting and at Oklahoma City, Okla., for an address tomorrow night.

Tonight the nominee cited the invasion of Poland as an example of the complications into which, he said, the United States easily could be drawn under article ten. He referred to Great Britain's failure to aid to the little republic and said he would not look with satisfaction on any such failure by this nation if it were a League member.

"The statement which the President made to the country a day or two ago" said Mr. Harding, "emphasizes his inflexible determination to secure the adherence of the United States to the League, precisely as the covenant is written. We know from authoritative declarations that the mind of the Democratic candidate and that of the Democratic President are in perfect accord. We may assume therefore that the President speaks for the candidate and announces the policy which he will follow if elected.

"Those who oppose the treaty in its present form—and there are quite a number of respectable and intelligent people who do oppose it—are charged with 'gross ignorance and impudent audacity'. To (the President) tells the people that there is nothing in the covenant which in the least interferes with or impairs the right of Congress to declare war or not to declare war according to its own independent judgment.

Must Fulfill or Renounce

"The fallacy of this position has been exposed again and again. Article ten, in words of the utmost precision, binds us to an obligation which under certain easily foreseeable circumstances will require the use of armed forces. It is true that the constitution invests Congress with the sole power to declare war, but if war shall become necessary in order to fulfill this or any other treaty provision, Congress must either declare war or repudiate the obligation.

"This obligation assumed by the signatories to the covenant is absolute and unqualified. Whenever certain specified circumstances arise, no matter how much we might regret it, we would have to keep our promise or sneak out of it. Let no one be deceived: the choice would be between two things – war or dishonor.

"Article ten is not only the most dangerous proposition in the covenant but in its sinister possibilities it is the most dangerous proposition ever presented to the American people."

After reading Article Ten, Senator Harding continued:

"We do not need to bring to bear upon these words any fine processes of logical analysis. Their meaning is so plain that he who runs may read. The obligation assumed is as free from ambiguity as a written promise to pay $50 thirty days after date. To PRESERVE means to DEFEND and SAVE. When ratified the obligation becomes that of the nation, not merely the promise of the President or the Senate or Congress. The national honor will be pledged to it as it is pledged to the performance of every treaty.

"America will never countenance the cynical doctrine that a treaty is a mere 'scrap of paper.' I am a plain, average man like most of you, little skilled in legal and diplomatic intricacies, and I know of no way to keep a promise except to keep it.

Case of Poland.

"Poland is a member of the League. Poland was invaded by Russia, her territorial integrity, therefore, violated by external aggression and the precise case contemplated by Article Ten was presented to Great Britain. But England did not furnish aid to Poland because a large body of her people opposed it. I, for one, would look with no satisfaction on similar action by my countrymen if we were a party to the League. If we promise, we keep.

"The case of Poland may be repeated many times. Under this provision we shall no longer be free to chose those who may be worthy of our knightly services. We shall be pledged to the preservation of the territory of the despot as well as the territory of the sore-beset. Our young men may be called upon to die in unwilling justification of the rape of Shantung by assisting Japan to repel a Chinese invasion.

"War is raging in Europe now. I don't think anyone would favor our participation in that warfare. Surely it is equally important not to bind the American people to a compact which may oblige them to participate in future wars which the American conscience may or may not approve."

Agricultural reforms receive principal attention of the nominee in four addresses in Iowa while en route to Missouri.

Crowds at Pacific Junction, Hartlett, Percival and Hamburg were told that the nation could not hope to prosper unless the farmers were given a square deal. At Hamburg many children were in the crowd and Senator Harding declared he wanted to see that these boys and girls are never mortgaged to the service of some ambitious power in Europe. He also made an appeal for agricultural, industrial and commercial co-operation to the end that the motto might be "one for all and all for one."

Johnson Indorses

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8—Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, in a statement tonight on the eve of his departure for Chicago to take part in the Harding and Coolidge campaign indorsed Senator Harding's position on the League of Nations, saying that there had never been doubt in his mind over the presidential nominee's stand on the issue. The statement said in part:

"Since the campaign commenced there has been no doubt about Senator Harding's position upon the League of Nations. Some interested parties, for purposes of their own have endeavored to misrepresent him.

"Some time ago I remarked that Senator Harding had scrapped the League. This was denied by some wobbly gentlemen and some left-handed newspapers. They may yet insist that he has not scrapped it, he has only turned his back upon its obligations and seeks its rejection. The Senator's forthright stand upon this issue has given him the enthusiasm in this campaign and will give him an overwhelming victory in November."

Borah to Keep in East

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—Senator William E. Borah will prolong his campaign in the East under supervision of the Republican Speakers' Bureau provided Senator Hiram Johnson agrees to remain in the West and cary on his anti-League of Nations fight.

This announcement was made today by Thomas W. Miller, chief of the Republican Speakers Bureau for the Eastern division after a conference with the Idaho Senator.

REPUBLICANS AFTER BIG STAKES, COX SAYS

PADUCAH, Ky., Oct. 8.—Effect of the presidential contest upon prospective United States supreme court vacancies was declared by Governor Cox of Ohio, in an address here today, to be "the real danger of a reactionary victory, next to the scrapping of the League of Nations."

The Democratic presidential candidate stated that at least four vacancies on the high court were in prospect and referring to the senate's control over confirmation and to Senator Harding as the "reactionary" candidate he added.

"Besides it would naturally follow that a reactionary president would appoint four reactionary members of the supreme court."

The governor declared this was one of the reasons why "the senatorial oligarchy" should be defeated.

"There are several reasons why the senate oligarchy should not be permitted to win this election," he said. "Throughout the years the senate has trespassed on the authority of the house of representatives. The constitution provides that all legislation providing for the raising of revenues shall be initiated in the house. Yet there has probably not been a tariff measure in the last 50 years which was not changed in its every line after the enacting clause once it reached the senate.

After Control of Three Branches.

It will be seen at a glance that the senatorial group is playing for big stakes, which are no more nor less than absolute control of the three constitutional branches of our government. No president of the United States will appoint anyone that he deems unworthy of a place on the highest court in the land but we must be reminded that the senate nominee for the presidency has confirmed his faith many times in the theory of plural government which means that he will not only confer with the group around him but that this same group has the constitutional right to apply its check if the president should show any signs of independence."

The League of Nations was stressed to his audience on the court house square.

"God intended that war should be prevented," said the governor, "who repeated that the League had been approved generally by all church organizations. "The League has no right to declare war," he added, reiterating that congress only has such power, "and only yesterday the senatorial candidate finally had to admit it."

Referring to President Wilson's letter to Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska approving the Senator's reservations, Governor Cox said Senator Harding was "unfair" in declaring yesterday that the President insisted upon ratification of the treaty without change.

DIE IS CAST, ROOSEVELT REPLIES TO HARDING

Declares Republican Nominee Appeals to "Cloistered Minds"

LEAGUE NOW VITAL ISSUE

Says Senator Scraps the Monroe Doctrine With Pact

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 8.—Replying to Senator Harding's criticism of the League of Nations made from the same platform less than 36 hours before, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic vice-presidential nominee, addressing an audience here tonight, charged that the Republican presidential candidate has "scrapped the Monroe doctrine" along with the League.

"The die is cast," he said. "The issue is joined. Three months have passed in the attempt to establish out of Senator Harding's own mouth his determination that the United States shall under no circumstances join hands with forty one nations to end future wars. From now on the existing League of Nations becomes the overshadowing issue in this campaign.

"It is a momentous decision that Senator Harding has been driven to. From now on his leadership is that of 'little Americanism,' of Chinese wall seclusion of America against the world.

Blame Either Way.

"If we stay out of the League, one of the two results must inevitably come. If, without us, the League becomes the success which the nations of the world are honestly seeking to make it, the United States will lose untold advantage by not participating. More than that we will be handicapped commercially, economically and industrially because it would be natural for other nations to pay scant heed to the United States if we remain sulking in our tents. Or else, if the League should fail to accomplish the great good which today is expected of it, the blame for any failure must rest squarely on the shoulders of the United States.

"During the remaining three weeks of the campaign, Mr. Harding will stress the dangers. He will appeal to the fears of the type of citizens who cannot see beyond his own nose. He appeals primarily to the kind of mind which has never yet been able to understand what business we had getting into the world war in 1917—the kind of man or woman who cannot understand why events which occur outside the United States have any bearing on the life or prosperity of people within the United States. Mr. Harding's appeal is that of monasticism, for cloistered minds.

Mr. Roosevelt declared it was a "waste of breath" to ask Senator Harding where he stood on other issues of the campaign, "because we know beforehand from experience that he will answer one way in the morning and another in the evening."

"The only things Mr. Harding really seems to accomplish, he added "is to sit safely on the top of the political fence until election day has passed.

Mr. Roosevelt delivered a brief address at Belleville, Kas., this morning and also addressed a gathering railroad men at Valley Junction, just outside this city. He left late tonight for Missouri, where he speaks at Sedalia and Kansas City.

ELECTRICITY TO SAVE COAL

Water Power League Is Told 30,000,000 Tons Will Be Conserved

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—A saving of 30,000,000 tons of coal annually representing $15,000,000 in value and the labor of more than 30,000 miners and the release of vast railroad carrying capacity for other freight were pictured as among the possibilities to result from the projected eastern industrial region super-power electric system, in an address today by W. S. Murray before the Water Power League.

Mr. Murray is chairman of the engineering staff now assisting the government in developing plans for the project and supervised the electrification of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. He drew a graphic picture of the enormous industrial advantages promised if the great power project is carried out. Stretching from Washington to Boston and drawing its electrical power from both steam and water-power generation, the system would be the paramount feeder of energy, he said, to all utilities, industries and railroads throughout the territory.

There is enormous waste of fuel under the present system of small unit steam generation, Mr. Murray declared.

"The nation would be negligent to waste such power and not to remedy it," he added. The situation, in addition to its manifest economy in fuel, would "treble" the available horsepower of the eastern region which now demands seventeen billion horsepower, he said.

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 8—The state board of health in session here today adopted a resolution in which ripe olives packed either in glass or tin may be sold in Montana with the written guarantee of the original packer and shipper that the containers were sterilized at 240 degrees fahrenheit for 40 minutes. Olives packed in glass were removed from sale in Montana last spring following several deaths from what is held to be bacillus botulinus.

BUY SITE FOR STATE FARM

To Be Used For Industrial Work, Delinquent Women

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 8.—Purchase of a site in Sonoma county for the state industrial farm for delinquent women for which the 1919 legislature provided a fund of $150,000 was announced today by the state board of control.

Marshall De Motte, chairman of the board of control, said the farm would be in operation within sixty days.

The purchase consists of 600 acres four miles from Sonoma City and was formerly the property of Henry Cailleaud. The price was $50,000.

On the property is a brick building containing 40 rooms and this will be utilized until additional housing accommodations can be provided, De Motte said.

One hundred acres of the land are suitable for intensive cultivation, it was said, and the balance, hilly and rolling can be planted to orchard. There is a plentiful supply of water for domestic purposes.

HUNGER STRIKER DECLARED SANE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Benjamin J. Salmon, a conscientious objector, who has been on a hunger strike at St. Elizabeth Military hospital for the insane here since July 15, was held to be of sound mind today by Justice Bailey of the District of Columbia supreme court.

The ruling on Salmon's sanity disposes of the first count of the habeas corpus proceedings by which Salmon's attorneys and the Civil Liberties League of New York seek to obtain his release.

The second count of the proceedings, directed against the war department alleges that Salmon was illegally convicted because he had not been inducted into service at the time of his court martial and hence was not within the jurisdiction of the court for a week pending submission of the court martial records.

Salmon, whose home is in Denver, in the meantime will remain at St. Elizabeth's but would make no statement as to whether he would continue the hunger strike which for 85 days has been unbroken except by occasional forcible feeding.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—Military circles here are concerned over the effect the conclusion of an armistice between Russia and Poland will have on the campaign of General Baron Wrangel in South Russia. They declare there is no doubt that the bolshevik will at once send reinforcements to the Crimean front. Reports emanating from Moscow that a French fleet intends to attack Black Sea ports are denied by the Matin.

British Demand Prisoners' Release

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Great Britain has threatened to take "certain action" against Soviet Russia if steps are not taken by October 10 for the release of British prisoners held by the bolshevik, says the Herald, organ of labor, which this morning prints what purports to be the text of notes exchanged by the British and Soviet governments.

Leonid Krassin, head of the Russian bolshevik trade mission here, has replied on behalf of the bolshevik regime that it will promise to fulfill the conditions required by Great Britain when the latter carries out her part of the bargain made last July for the mutual release of all prisoners, and cessation of all hostile action.

Early Winter Blocks Navigation, Yukon

DAWSON, Y. T., Oct. 8.—Navigation on the picturesque Yukon and other streams already is becoming difficult owing to large floes of slush ice, caused by premature winter weather.

The steamer Selkirk was aground today near the mouth of the Stewart river with a hole in her hull caused when she struck a rock while plowing through drifting ice.

U. S. Trade With Far East Grows

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Commerce with the Far East thus far this year has amounted to approximately 20 per cent of the foreign trade of the United States, compared with 15 per cent last year, according to a summary issued late today by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

For the eight months ended with August exports to the orient aggregated $755,000,000, an increase of $155,000,000 over the same months of 1919, while imports from the Far East amounted to $1,115,000,000, an increase of $429,000,000.

Try Chicago Liquor Cases on Wednesday

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Collector Harry W. Mager of the internal revenue department, announced today that the cases of 75 Chicago breweries and 1,000 saloons, whose owners are alleged to have manufactured and sold beer with 2½ per cent or more alcoholic contents, would be presented to Federal Judge Landis when he opens court next Wednesday.

Mr. Mager forecast confiscation of the breweries and saloons, and said violators would be prosecuted to the limit.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 8.—A conference soon to be held by Premier De La Croix of Belgium and Premier David Lloyd-George is expected to formulate an agreement between the Allies on the question of German reparations, according to the Independence Belge today.

CHESTER H. ROWELL, Editor and Manager

PHELAN ALWAYS ANTI-JAPANESE

Perhaps the most absurd of all the attacks on Senator Phelan is the Chronicle's effort to show that he never discovered the Japanese question until he was a candidate for re-election. The Chronicle even went so far as to charge that, in deference to the Exposition, Senator Phelan refused requests to appear before the legislature on behalf of the original alien land bill, and that the Democratic national administration caused the Democrats in the legislature of 1913 to back up from their original advocacy of the land bill, which thereby became a Republican measure.'

It would be impossible worse to distort all the facts. In the first place, Senator Phelan, then a private citizen, far from refusing an invitation to speak in favor of the land bill, went to Sacramento uninvited and insisted on speaking for it. As to the Democrats in the legislature, it is true that some of them flopped ungracefully, as did some Republicans and Progressives. But it still remains that the introducer of the original anti-Japanese bill was a Democrat, and that the suggestion of the diplomacy-proof form of the final bill came from Francis J. Heney, who, whatever he was then, is now a Democrat. The actual drafting of the bill was done jointly by Heney and Raymond Benjamin, now Republican state chairman, and the whole driving force behind the bill was supplied by Hiram Johnson, then a Progressive governor and now a Republican senator. The opposition to this particular bill was led by Democratic President Wilson. The opposition to previous bills had been led by Republican Presidents Roosevelt and Taft. So party credit or discredit, on both sides, is even. And Senator Phelan's attitude, whether you agree with it or not, has been consistent throughout.

FORTY-ONE BARRELS OF BOOZE

They are making a joke in San Francisco of the discovery that the booze which made San Francisco notoriously "wet" during the Democratic convention was withdrawn "for medical purposes" on an order from the health officer, ostensibly for the relief of patients in the county hospital. How many one-pint-permits it took to get out forty-one barrels is not disclosed, but that is doubtless an administrative detail.

On one aspect we can have a certain human sympathy with the joke attitude. "San Francisco knows how," and if the enforcement of prohibition is to be relaxed anywhere (as it notoriously is in many places) certainly no one deserved it better than the deserving Democrats assembled for the convention. There was plenty of Republican booze at Chicago. Why not Democratic booze at San Francisco? And if at Chicago Big Bill Thompson simply fixed it with the police, while at San Francisco it took a secret order from more reputable authorities in Washington, that is a pity, but perhaps no more pitiful than a lot of other pitiable exhibitions we are standing. So, if anybody wants to regard it as a joke, on this side, we can at least understand his point of view.

But there is another side, not yet mentioned, which is very far from a joke. If you have guests to entertain, you may give them booze, if that is the sort of entertainment they like. But if you have a meeting of the board of directors, to determine an important business policy, you do not give them booze unless you are planning to put something over on them. In fact, if they are fit to be directors, they will not drink at or before a directors' meeting, no matter what they may do at dinner after business hours. Now, this convention was only incidentally a social function. Primarily it was a meeting of the board of directors. If its thousand members and their friends drank up forty-one barrels of whisky, they were not in the condition in which the directors of the steel trust are careful to be, when they have the responsibility of electing a new president. Some of the most decisive delegations, particularly the Pennsylvania one, decidedly were not in that condition. And the nomination of Cox, by a demoralized convention at two o'clock in the morning, is not made the more inspiring by the part which forty-one barrels of whisky are known to have taken in it.

Entertaining San Francisco's guests with free booze may have been a joke. But making a decision on which may turn the history of the United States and the welfare of the world, on forty-one barrels of booze, is far from a joke. It is made not better, but worse, by the knowledge that the same thing happened at Chicago.

TEN YEARS

Time has been flying fast for even the youngest of us, this last ten years. For the world, more things have happened in the decade that has included the World war, and the Balkan wars that led up to it, than in the preceding hundred years. But to us Americans, one particular life will aptly illustrate the passage of the time. Ten years ago this month, Woodrow Wilson resigned the presidency of Princeton University to seek the Democratic nomination for governor of New Jersey. In the ten years that have passed, for him, there has been more of the things that go to crowd men's lives than for any other human being.

Ten years ago Woodrow Wilson was known among scholars and students all over the United States, but was an unknown figure to the rest of the citizens of this country or to the world at large. His first step into public life was not the result of any amateur participation in politics, such as has been conducted by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University. Dr. Wilson was not a recluse, but he moved within a narrow circle of acquaintanceship. He had been known as a writer of books, to some extent as a speaker, and in no sense as a politician. He was drafted into the partisanship of New Jersey to further a factional fight, albeit one in which he had the right side and in his success led to the right measures. His election to the governorship of New Jersey, against factional as well as party odds, led, in a year when governors were being canvassed for presidential timber, to the development of the campaign that gave him the Democratic presidential nomination in 1912. The "accidents" of that year and of 1916 that have given Woodrow Wilson his eight years in the White House are matters of history that do not in themselves produce great careers and great memories. But the combination of character and great events has made this, for all history a Woodrow Wilson decade.

The opening of it finds the reputation of this once president of Princeton University perhaps at its lowest ebb since any time that his reputation has been measured by world standards. In the emotional height of the war, Wilson rode on the crest of that breathless; terrifying sweep of time. In the days when the German Empire was bowing to the might of Marshal Foch's sweep across Picardy and Belgium and the Argonne, Woodrow Wilson was the center of the world's attention. Now that the nadir of sensation, depths of cynical indifference to idealism, the coldness, the dullness of reaction has been reached, Wilson is neither a mighty figure nor has his name even the capacity to inspire hope for the resurgence of spirit, of belief in human endeavor that is sure to come. Some new personality, some new complex virtues it seems to be that the times require.

Time, which carefully winnows the useful from the trivial, will preserve for tomorrow the lesson that there is in the life of Woodrow Wilson. For the present, nothing seems to be vital but the concrete things that he has accomplished. These are great enough and many enough. They are the fullness, in a way, of the ten years that have gone. But just now, they echo through a cold and for the most part unresponsive world.

EAST REALIZING

The M'Cutcheon cartoon printed on the editorial page of the Republican yesterday morning is specially interesting because it was drawn by an Eastern man, John T. M'Cutcheon, working in an Eastern political atmosphere, and shows that the East is waking up to the national importance of the Japanese issue. It is no longer a California problem, to be passed off lightly as a discussion in which Californians are letting petty local questions endanger the after dinner peace of the rest of the United States. It is not merely that California is a part of the United States, that it is important. It is because the evil is spreading, and California is the first menaced.

It is true that this particular cartoon attacks the problem on a quid pro quo basis. Because Japan happens to exclude Whites, therefore the United States has a right to exclude Asiatics, is the argument. The fact is that California agrees in effect with Japan that Japan has a right to exclude Whites if the immigration of Whites for colonization purposes raises a question of race solidarity. The tit for tat argument may be useful, but it is not the basic reasoning. It is valuable in showing that Japan has the same feeling about the penetration of unassimilable foreigners as we have. But we demand the right to decide what sort of penetration shall take place in the United States quite irrespective of what Japan has done or shall do.

Fresno's Yesterdays

Taken from the Files of the FRESNO REPUBLICAN

Forty Years Ago Today:

Messrs. Chance & Brown need no formal introduction to the people of Fresno county. They are well-known gentlemen of honor and ability, and at once merit a share of the mercantile business of Fresno. Having bought the property of Greenup and Reid, they will at once make large additions of splendid stock, and command the public's attention. Yesterday they received an extensive stock of fresh groceries, of which line of goods they will make a specialty. Read their ad. in another column and give them a call.

The board this week fixed the rate of county tax at $1.18 which, added to the state tax, gives $1.82 as the levy on each $100. Last year the rate was $2. Judges and Inspectors of Election were appointed, those who served last year being selected in nearly every precinct. In the matter of a county elections, the Board decided to issue no proclamation at present except for the election of Supervisor in the 3rd district. Should the authorities of the state order a county election, the Board will meet in extra session and issue the necessary proclamation.

Twenty Years Ago Today:

The first regular study of the Query Club was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. H. Z. Austin on north L street. The ladies will visit the Paris exposition, supposedly in person, as their school work for a large part of the year, and yesterday's lesson consisted of five minute talks on prominent buildings and other features of the fair. Quotations from Hawthorne were given at roll call. The next meeting, which is to be held at Mrs. H. O. Buker's residence, will have as its subject, the arts exhibit of the exposition.

Ten Years Ago Today:

T. P. Nielson of Seattle is elected national president of the Danish Brotherhood by the convention meeting in Fresno.

J. P. Bernhard, chairman of the Republican county central committee, A. M. Drew and W. F. Chandler open the state campaign with addresses at Coalinga.

SEA DISTANCES

His native sea-washed isle
Was bleak and bare.
Far off, there seemed to smile
An isle more fair.

Blue as the smoke of spring
His far hills rose,
A delicate azure ring
Crowned with faint snows.

At dusk, a rose-red star
Set free from wrong,
It beaconed him afar,
His whole life long.

Not till old age drew nigh
He voyaged there.
He saw the colors die
As he drew near.

It towered above him, bleak
And cold, death-cold.
From peak to phantom peak
A gray mist rolled.

Then, under his arched hand,
From that bare shore,
Back, at his own dear land,
He gazed once more.

Clothed with the tints he knew
He saw it smile—
Opal, and rose and blue,
His native isle.

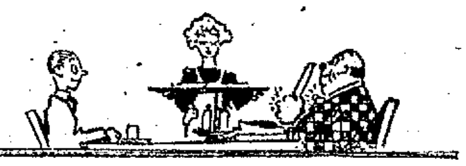
More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague



AMELIA GRAY

Erastus Boggs had power and place,
Elijah Biggs was quite obscure;
Erastus Boggs was rich and base,
Elijah Biggs was poor and pure;
While eating luncheon every day
Their hearts were equally upset,
For both adored Amelia Gray
Who punched their tickets ere they et.

Impassively she let them kid,
As patrons of such places do.
Her choice—if choice she had—she hid,
Her smiles were rare—her words were few.
But 'Lige had looks—though lacking gold,
And lovely ties and snappy collars,
And Rastus, who was fat and old
Had nothing but four-million dollars.

"Youth answers youth"—you know the rest,
Old age a way has never found
To wake within a maiden's breast
The love that makes the world go round.
Beside, Erastus was a gent
Who'd led a black and evil life:
And could a lovely girl consent
To be an aged scoundrel's wife?

They both proposed; she asked for time,
Her heart she said, could not be sure.
One man was rich, but steeped in crime
The other poor, but oh! so pure!
One would be tender, fond and true;
The other buy her rings and togs.
She did what all of 'em would do
In such a fix—accepted Boggs.

GUESS WHY.

Somehow or other that Russian army reminds us of John McGraw.

FAMOUS FRENCH FLYER CAPTURES BENNETT TROPHY

—Underwood & Underwood.

Sadi Lecointe, famous French aviator, who won the International Airplane race for the James Gordon Bennett trophy. He covered the course of 300 kilometers or 186.3 miles in one hour, six minutes and 17 and 1-5 seconds.

Howard M. Rinehardt and Major R. W. Schroeder, were both forced to abandon the race soon after starting because of engine trouble. Lecointe's victory was France's third.

NEW YORK AND THE LANDLORDS

New York is making interesting experiments with the rent profiteer. A law has now come into effect by which landlords must prove in court that an increase in rent is justified. Eviction may only be accomplished after the landlord has proved that he wishes to occupy the house or apartment himself, or to raze the building, or that the tenant is disorderly.

A tourist and his correspondence with a local apartment-house owner were given publicity in The Times on Sunday, by which it transpired that $200 a month is asked for the same apartment that rented at $75 last winter. This is no isolated case and similar complaints reach the Chamber of Commerce and the newspapers from all quarters. Such greed is disastrously harmful to the reputation of the city, as well as victimizing both residents and tourists alike. The New York method applied to local conditions seems violently necessary. Homes are one of the basic essentials and nothing can be better calculated to give a handle to the Reds than this sort of shameless profiteering. Everyone regrets the necessity for further laws and regulations, but certain unfair landlords are showing such a dangerous disregard of civic and human responsibility that drastic measures will have to be instituted before they will respond to reason. Excesses always bring reprisals, and if the land lords have any iota of wisdom left they will surely get together and obviate the necessity for action that will victimize both the innocent and the guilty. At present they are riding for a hard fall, and their greed must ultimately cost them far more dearly than any temporary profits can possible offset.—L. A. Times.

WORLD-NOTED FRENCH CRITIC SOON TO MARRY

Twa Mouthfu's o' Naething

When I read
In the pooblic prints
Aboot these here lads
O' the Chicago White Sox
Thot sold oot
Fir thirty pieces o' siller,
Or some such sum,
Their ain honor
And broke the hert
O' their boss,
Chairlie Comiskey,
The squarest shooter
In the spoortin' world,
And dirtied the name
O' a grand game,
There cums tae me mind
A few words
Thot I heerd one time
Frae the lips
O' a frien' o' mine,
Wha spent eighteen months
At hard labor
In Leavenworth Penetentiary
Fir cruikedness.
Me frien', Joe,
Wes a gude lad
Inside the hert o' him
And wold take aff
The shirt frae his back,
As the sayin' is,
Fir a frien' in need
And he luved wee thingies
Wi a luve
Thot wes beautifu'
Fir tae see,
But somewhere
Doon inside o him
There wes a streak
O' something or ither
Thot made him play
A cruiked game o' poker
Or coax' somebody
Intae bettin' heavily
On a fixed wrestlin' match,
He culd set doon
Recht in front o' ye
And dae things
Wi a deck o' cards
Thot near convinced ye
Thot super-natural things
Are verra natural things
When the recht lad
Is workin' them oot.
Joe wes a "wise guy",
As the sayin' is,
But he gang tae Leavenworth
And wheeled rocks
In a creaky wheel-barrow
Fir eighteen months
And when he came oot
He said tae me
Thot he'd hed time
Fir tae think some
In thot lang streetch
And he'd made oop
The mind o' him
Thot the wise guy

Is the one thot works
And the boob is the one
Thot tries fir tae get
The wise guy's siller.
"Cruikedness" said Joe
"Is the puirest payin' thing
Thot wes ever invented."

ADOPT REPORT PUBLIC FINANCE

BRUSSELS, Oct. 7—(By the Associated Press.)—The international financial conference today adopted unanimously the report on public finance, which contains the results of the work of the past two weeks by the conference. A first step toward the organization of an international credit system and an international clearing house and a permanent organism for collecting and distributing information about the financial situations in the different countries are the tangible results of the conference.

The full conference expressed the hope that the forthcoming assembly of the League of Nations will take up the question of the reduction of armaments. Meantime, however, the council of the league will endeavor to obtain results by direct appeals to the different countries.

The much-discussed question of a tax on capital was left to the discretion of the various countries without recommendation. The conference recommended that each country make efforts to stop extravagance and waste.

URGE POLITICAL ACTION TO AID STATE SCHOOLS

Organized Teachers Desire Labor Representatives on Boards

Convention Delegates Agree Uphold Fight of Teachers

Political action as a means of preserving the "American spirit" in the public schools of the state through the election of one or more labor representatives to membership on boards of education was urged on the delegates in attendance at yesterday's sessions of the California Federation of Labor convention.

This was one of the developments in an extensive debate over the acceptance of a resolution, presented by the teachers' delegation, urging an active campaign during the coming year for organizing teachers, and pledging the united support of labor for the drive.

"Under the present system labor has nothing to do with education. They don't want you to," declared E. J. Dupuy, leader of the teacher delegation from the Bay district. "I urge you to put up at least one candidate for a place on the board of education to stand guard for the teachers, the workers, and the schools, for after all the majority of pupils whom we teach are the children of the toilers."

He said that while the men in the profession could and would fight, the women were compelled to bear the brunt of it and as a result had been treated shamefully. He charged that women teachers were told to "mark the line" and were not given permanent positions until they were regarded as "safe" to take and obey all orders.

He alleged the teachers of California, whom he admitted were freer than those in many other states, had little or no freedom of speech or action and claimed that only organization and union representation on the boards could save them.

The resolution adopted supporting the teachers, follows:

"Whereas, The State labor organizations are realizing more and more the obstacles placed in the path of the teachers in the public schools as well as the open discrimination made against teachers forming unions and affiliating with the Federation of Labor; and

"Whereas, The proper citizenship can be developed in the public schools only when the teachers are allowed their freedom of thought, of speech and of action; and

"Whereas, The improvement of our schools does not rest solely upon an increase in salaries, but in the removal of the altogether too arbitrary rule of those placed in authority over the rank and file of the teaching forces; and

"Whereas, It is a known fact that throughout the Commonwealth of California a far-reaching and concerted movement is at work in an endeavor to crush the teachers' organizations affiliated with the labor councils and the State Federation of Labor, namely, manifested in the activity of the Federation of California (now the Better America); and that through this agency and others of the same character teachers are coerced into refraining from joining any organization excepting the ones designated by Boards of Education or Boards of School Trustees; and

"Whereas, In several localities in California teachers have been demoted, compelled to resign or dropped from their department of education for having joined teachers' federations in order to make place for others who may be more willing to obey and never question; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the California State Federation of Labor, in Twenty-first Annual Convention assembled, that we urge during the coming year an active campaign of organizing teachers into federations or unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and pledge the support of our State and local organizations to all such unions of public school teachers, and that organized labor strive to secure representation on local school boards to the end that the teachers who are entrusted with the education of our children may impart to their charges the proper ideals and standards which should obtain in a free democracy, and not be intimidated into presenting views and theories which only represent the ideas of a class or of such an un-American organization as the Commercial Federation, and prepare in the proper manner our rising generation for the struggles it will have to encounter."

Although the vote, following the lengthy debate, was unanimous considerable discussion was evoked over a resolution pledging the support of the federation and its affiliated locals to the Pacific Co-operative League, which owns and controls a number of stores up and down the coast.

During the discussion Walter Yarrow, spokesman for the oil worker's delegation, disclosed the plan for a big improvement in Coalinga where, he said, $100,000 would shortly be spent in the erection of a handsome and commodious building, the lower floor of which would be occupied by a co-operative store on the Rochdale plan, controlled by members of the organization he represented.

An effort was made to amend the resolution to embrace an endorsement of all co-operative efforts, due to the opposition of those interested in independent co-operative movements, but this lost by a sizable majority, the committee report being adopted practically unanimously.

A part of the fight against the resolution centered about criticism of one of the executive officers of the league. Proponents of the resolution asked that the principle be not condemned for the alleged unpopularity of an individual and offered a spirited defense of the person under fire, demanding that charges against him be made in writing.

YUKON SHIP IS ICEBOUND

Outbound Passengers May Have to Take Overland Trail

JUNEAU, Alaska, Oct. 8.—Outward bound passengers on the Yukon river steamer Seattle Three frozen in at Rampart, Alaska, may have to make the 275-mile journey to Fairbanks overland over rough mountain trails, if efforts to transport them by water fail, according to reports reaching here today. Among the passengers it is believed are a number of women and children.

Old-time "sour doughs" here say the trip will be almost impossible before November, when it is expected there will be sufficient snow for sledding.

Yukon, both carrying passengers, are reported frozen in at Tanana, but are trying to break a way through the slush ice to take off passengers of the Seattle Three. If the passengers can be brought to Tanana it is believed it will be possible to send them to Fairbanks in launches and thence over the trail to the coast. Most of them are bound for the states. Food supplies are said to be available both at Rampart and Tanana.

Premature formation of slush ice on the Yukon has greatly hampered navigation, and boats of the American Yukon Navigation Company below Dawson are reported to have been frozen in. Two steamers, the Washburn and the Kestrel, fighting their way up the river, passed Circle but failed to reach Eagle, the next point of communication. Their whereabouts is undetermined. Conditions are reported much worse than last season, when two boats, after fighting the ice, finally won through to Wawson. The situation is complicated by extremely low water.

Louisiana Asks Mexican Labor

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8.—Several hundred Louisiana planters and business men today indorsed a plan of Barry D. Wilson, state commissioner of agriculture and immigration providing for importation of Mexican laborers for cane, rice, sugar and cotton fields.

The commissioner has petitioned the federal immigration bureau for permission to bring in Mexican labor on conditions similar to those imposed for certain border states. Louisiana is short 5000 workers for planting and 16,000 for harvesting, it was stated, due to the exodus of country negroes to northern and southern cities.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—Early summoning of a Franco-British financial conference is insisted upon by Earl Curzon, British foreign minister, in an important note on reparations received by the French foreign office yesterday, says "Pertinax," political editor of Echo de Paris. The note suggests that this meeting be followed by a "veritable international conference."

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Knights of Columbus announced tonight they had received a letter from Secretary of War Baker notifying them that on October 15, the War Department will take over all welfare work in the Philippine Islands in conformity with the department's policy of assuming charge of welfare work wherever it feels competent to do so.

The War Department also is assuming all welfare work in Hawaii and will study conditions in Panama with a view to taking over the welfare work there.

FILE PETITION COLORADO VOTE

Charge Irregularties in Nominations For Senators

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 8.—A petition charging irregularities in connection with the nominations of United States Senator Charles S. Thomas and Charles W. Waterman for United States Senator on the National and Roosevelt-American tickets respectively, were filed in the county court this morning by Emmett H. McClenahan, campaign manager for Samuel D. Nicholson republican nominee for senator.

Thomas and Waterman both were nominated by petitions filed in the office of the secretary of state last Saturday. Thomas has accepted the nomination but Waterman has taken no action as yet.

Mr. McClenahan charges that the nominating petitions were irregular in several particulars. He charges that neither Mr. Thomas nor Mr. Waterman has a right to use the party name under which he is running.

The petition prays that secretary of state James R. Noland be ordered to decline to accept the papers filed in behalf of the candidates of Thomas and Waterman.

Thomas, a democratic incumbent, was not a candidate for the nomination at the primaries of his party September 14. He has consistently opposed the league of nations. Waterman is a republican.

Club News OF THE SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY DISTRICT

The Friday club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. L. Renard, Mrs. W. P. Miller reading "None so Wise, None so Rich," by Theodosia Price, and "Smiling Through," by Allan Langdon Martin. The club will meet next week on Thursday instead of Friday, with Mrs. H. R. Buswell, 257 Poplar avenue, so as to enable the club members to attend a lecture at the Parlor Lecture club Friday by Mrs. Herbert Cable.

There will be a meeting of the Woman's Improvement club of Winton next Wednesday, Oct. 13th, at 2:30 p. m. in the club house. All members are urged to be present.

The musical comedy given under the management of the Woman's Improvement club of Newman, directed by Mrs. Carolyn Staley, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings was one of the biggest hits here for years. 175 characters were trained in one week's time, which made up the choruses and characters of the county fair, under the "Whirlwind Directress Staley." The house was packed both evenings, and the whole community joined with the club in making the affair a grand success. $659.60 was netted which was divided equally with the directress, and the club.

Friday, October 1st, was another milestone in the history of the Woman's Civic and Study club of Reedley. The date marked the beginning of the twenty first year of its existence, a year which the members earnestly hope to make a notable record of civic effort and cultural study.

An invitation having been extended to any of the Reedley ladies interested in the program the result was a number of visitors in addition to a fair representation of the membership.

Mrs. M. V. Malloy as the only one of the charter members of the club still actively identified with club interests, was the chairman introducing and seating the new staff of officers: Mrs. S. L. Stoner, president; Mrs. Erwin Frane, vice-president; Mrs. J. W. Stahl, secretary; Mrs. A. H. Kellogg, treasurer and Mrs. Max Hart, corresponding secretary.

Introductory music included two solos by Mrs. J. C. Glasgow, "Passing By," Edw. Purcell, which the singer pleasingly dedicated to Mrs. Stoner, and a little tuneful melody, "Let Miss Linda Pass," by Rogers.

Mrs. Stoner has long been known to have the civic interests of her home town close at heart and her interesting little address of welcome voiced her aspirations in this line.

The civic committee of the Tuesday club of Lindsay, Mrs. R. M. Carr, chairman, are planning an interesting program for the afternoon of Oct. 26th, just prior to the November election.

The entire afternoon will be given over to a consideration of the constitutional amendments. Mrs. Grace Dorris, assemblywoman from Kern county, will discuss the community property law; Supt. O. S. Hubbard of Lindsay will talk on the educational amendment and C. W. Cleary, assemblyman from Tulare county will discuss several of the others. This will be an excellent opportunity for clubwomen to prepare themselves for intelligent voting in November.

The Woman's Improvement Club of Taft met in regular session at the Redmen hall Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Floyd Morris presiding. Much new business was transacted and plans made for the year's activities. All the new officers were present, and the ladies are very enthusiastic for the new club house. Mrs. McGuire donated the Honolulu bunkhouse for a dance and party to help raise funds for the new club building.

The program for the afternoon was a most delightful one, and thoroughly enjoyed by all. Tea was served by the hostess, and all the ladies went home in a cheerful spirit and encouraged for the new work. The next meeting of the club will be held on Tuesday afternoon, October 19.

Those present were Mesdames Perkins, Follansbee, McKinnie, McGuire, Zellers, Martin, Hatfield, Morris, Jastro, Taylor, del Bondio, Cooney, Beckley, McClintock, Dusy, Johnson, Bishop, McGillivray, Medill, Adkisson, Tupper, Zeigler, Buchanan, Phillips, Oliver, Brown, Fischer, Nix, Mensch, Cummins and Galloway.

MARCUS SHOW OF 1920 HERE SUNDAY SPECIAL MUSIC

The Marcus Show of 1920, which will be at the White theater, matinee and night, Sunday, October 10, direct from its run at the Columbia theater, San Francisco, carries a special orchestra of twelve pieces. Several of these appear on the stage, while the remainder aid the local orchestra in playing the delightful score which was composed by Charles Abbate.

Prominent in the big Harlequinade are Oliver and Maria Vespo, who head the Royal Italian Accordionists, a troupe of Neapolitan instrumentalists who have won fame in their own land and come now for their first tour of America under the direction of Impressario Marcus.

No little credit for the entertainment value of the Marcus Show of 1920 should go to Charles Abbate, from whose fertile brain emanated the words and music. Mr. Abbate enjoys the gift of composing light, airy melodies that makes the shimmy enthusiasts shake and shiver, while not offending the ear of the lover of real music.

"Smile With Me," "Good-Bye, Bachelor Days," "Dixie, I Love You," "Salvation Army Girl," "Lingerie," "Bagdad," "Classy Clothes," "Bathing Peaches," "How to Reduce," "Anybody Want a Baby," "Under the Sea," and "Oh! Baby! Glide" are some of the twenty-seven song numbers which Mr. Abbate has supplied.

With few exceptions, each of the musical numbers serves as excuse for the decorative and terpsichorean presence of the Marcus Peaches. Vocally, Misses Bee Winsome, Charlotte Allen, Florence Lawrence, Ruth Elmore, Edna Quirk, Messrs. Billy Dale, Mike Sacks, Charles Abbate, Bob Alexander and Harry Bailey will be heard to advantage.

Dr. Lloyd Austin has returned from Chicago where he took a special dental course.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—United States Attorney Frank M. Silva today stated that his office is investigating the death of Lorin A. Handley, late California prohibition director, who sustained a broken neck in an automobile upset at midnight, September 20. Continued rumors that foul play entered into the fatality, adjudged accidental by a coroner's inquest, instigated Silva's action, he said.

REVIEWS

HEADLINERS "PRIMROSE FOUR" WELL DESERVE APPLAUSE THEY RECEIVE FROM ORPHEUMITES

The "Primrose Four," that ever welcome "thousand pounds of harmony" are the headliners in this week's Orpheum bill and well deserve the applause that greets them. They always manage to return to us with the newest of songs, sung in their own inimitable style and no other quartette can ever quite take their place.

Can you imagine balancing a davenport on one's nose, let alone walking up and down a ladder with it? Elly, advertised as "the youngest feminine juggler in the world" does all this and several more skillful feats which exhibit unusual prowess for any juggler, man or woman.

Next on the bill are Coley and Jaxon who, with the aid of their dog, have something really new to present in that overworked field of the dialogue, which is more than one can say of Santry and Norton, who attempt to gain a different effect in dancing, and succeed only in hopping madly and awkwardly about the stage.

As a comedian and conjurer Wallace Galvin may not be doing anything new in his egg act, but he certainly gets it across well and it's always been a good act, anyway—we'd just as soon see it done again.

"Sully," of course, is good in "Under the Apple Tree", but the little musical comedy as a whole is hardly up to average for its chorus is poor and the array of gowns feature nothing of especial interest.

William Brack's company of eccentric artists, the last number on the program, wind things up in their usual peppy way and fascinate the eyes of the audience with a splendid display of agility. —H.L.

Charge Youth Sent Obscene Literature

Aram Safarian has been arrested on a charge of sending obscene literature through the mails. Safarian is accused in a complaint filed by federal officials with having sent a Miss Hansen of Kingsburg obscene letters. He was arrested on a county charge, but upon request of federal officers the charge was dismissed to allow the authorities to place a federal complaint against him. He was released yesterday afternoon on bail.

LABOR FEDERATION OUTLINES ITS LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

Six Amendments Are Approved; Three Are Opposed; No Action on Four; Seven Not Presented

With the adoption of a resolution calling on organized labor of the state to support the anti-alien act, numbered as Amendment No. 1 on the November ballot, the Federation of Labor convention session of yesterday, with but a single exception completed its legislative program for the coming election.

The lone exception pending is No. 13, the community property measure, which is due for final determination at this morning's session. Of the 20 measures labor took cognizance of it has given approval to six, has expressed opposition to three, and took no action on four. Seven were not submitted to the convention.

The convention recommendations or actions are:

No. 1, Alien land law—favorable.
No. 2, Harris enforcement bill—not presented.
No. 3, Judge's salaries—no action recommended.
No. 4, Initiative—opposed.
No. 5, Chiropractic—not presented.
No. 6, Vaccination—not presented.
No. 7, Vivisection—not presented.
No. 8, Drugs—not presented.
No. 9, Highway bonds and interest rate—favorable.
No. 10, Constitutional convention—opposed.
No. 11, Alien poll tax—opposed.
No. 12, University tax—no action recommended.
No. 13, Community Property—discussed today.
No. 14, Insurance—not presented.
No. 15, Irrigation—not presented.
No. 16, School law—favorable.
No. 17, Absentee voting—favorable.
No. 18, Taxation exemption for orphanages—favorable.
No. 19, State aid for institutions for children—favorable.
No. 20, Single tax. No recommendation.

The economic and political platform, adopted at Bakersfield and to be re-affirmed at the current conclave, follows:

1. Granduated Land Tax

As a means of breaking up large land holdings and forcing idle land into use, we favor a graduated tax on all large land holdings, as recommended by the State commission of immigration and housing.

2. Exulsion of Asiatics

To preserve California as a heritage to the white race, we demand the abrogation of the gentlemen's agreement with Japan and the exclusion of Asiatics by law.

3. Public Ownership of Utilities

Re-affirming our demand for equality of opportunity, we favor the public ownership of public utilities, including terminal warehouses and packing plants; we also favor the Plumb plan for railroad operation.

4. Co-operative Organizations

Accepting voluntary co-operation as the most practical method for the equitable distribution of food and other necessaries of life, we urge upon the state government to assist in the development of the co-operative movement in connection with its activities relative to the high cost of living, with a view to utilizing the existing co-operative organizations for immediate purposes and encouraging the creation of additional co-operative organizations where they are needed and conditions are suitable.

5. Private Employment Bureaus

We favor legislation limiting the fee which may be charged by employment agencies operated for profit to 10 per cent of one month's pay.

6. Absent Voters' Law

No citizen shall be disfranchised in elections by reason of absence from his or her residence. We therefore favor the adoption of the pending constitutional amendment as a necessary step to enable the legislature to adopt an absent voters' act under proper safeguards and reasonable restrictions.

7. Farmer and Labor Representation

We reiterate our demand for farmer and labor representation upon all state boards and commissions. In particular do we insist upon adequate labor and farmer representation on the board of regents of the State University, which, being maintained and supported by all the people should be at the service of every section of society.

Anti-injunction Law

The issuance of injunctions in labor disputes is not based upon law, but is a species of judicial legislation—that is, judicial usurpation—in the interests of the money power and against the working class, innocent of any unlawful or criminal act. Injunctions, as issued against workmen, are never used or issued against any other citizens of our country. We therefore demand the enactment of a law prohibiting the issue of such injunctions.

9. Development of Irrigation Systems

We favor the federation of all irrigation systems under state auspices, in order to promote their development, and, where necessary, to arrange facilities for joint operation and to permit the manufacture and sale of electric power.

Attack Committee Work.

From the discussion of the resolution and the reasons why labor should reaffirm its policy in the present convention, the debate developed into a concentrated attack by those regarded as the "radical" element on the executive committee. The demand was insistent for the convention to take action and consequently a motion was made that the convention concur in the resolution. Delegate Yarrow took the floor and offered an amendment which he declared was for the sake of publicity which made the resolution a part of the proceedings of the convention and left the carrying out of the lengthy program involved to the ministrations of the executive board. This amendment carried almost unanimously, the [illegible] vote against its passage by the floor being confined largely to the members of the committee on officers' reports.

Murphy Takes Floor

Leaving the chair, President Daniel C. Murphy of the Federation, outlined the position of the executive committee, told of the efforts made to have the repeal of the criminal syndicalism law placed on the ballot as an initiative measure and the non-concurrence of labor in this move as it meant sure defeat for the measure. Consequently the work of securing the repeal or amendment of the law at the next session was doubly hard as the opponents of labor would point an accusing finger at the seeming indorsement of labor on the initiative move which failed to get sufficient signatures to put it on the ballot.

"Eternal vigilance is the only way," declared Murphy in outlining the position of the executive committee. "And still you say that the voice of labor must be heard. There are some limitations on the rights of free speech which some of us understand. I deny that it is the duty of labor to defend everybody—some of them go beyond all limit in advocating the overthrow of the government by violence. The rank and file of labor are not in favor of defending all sorts of people. We would like to see the affairs of government ministered in the same calm way which preceded the great war, and we stand for the policy which is dictated by bona fide labor."

Wineberger Opens Debate.

J. Wineberger, Waiters Union No. 30, of San Francisco, fathered the resolution and stated on the floor that it was the result of collaboration between fifteen delegations all with resolutions to be introduced in part or the same subject matter.

Secretary Paul Scharrenberg took the floor to outline what the executive committee had done to justify the accusation from the floor that "it had done nothing." He pointed to the many cases which had been handled and records of which had never been made public. "How would you like it if you were in our position," he said. "If you don't want us, elect the other kind and then you will get something else."

In stating why the committee had recommended that the resolution be referred to the executive committee, Chairman Seth R. Brown stated that it was referred because of the many complex problems touched upon, because it registered the policy on the syndicalism law which has been affirmed before by the state federation and must be handled by the executive committee eventually.

Tells of Arrests.

Walter Yarrow, in moving his amendment which later carried almost unanimously, told of the arrest of two oil workers at Lost Hills under the law on 'trumped up' charges preferred by a Pinkerton operative in the employ, he said of the "M. and M. of Los Angeles." "I have every confidence in the executive board of this body," he said. "It will be by apathy if this convention permits this resolution to go over to the board. It ought to carry so that the outside world will realize the pernicious character of this law."

This case, Secretary Scharrenberg said, was the only one which was brought to the attention of the executive committee in the year and Yarrow stated that a reply to his telegram explaining the nature of the case was received in four and one-half hours.

A proposition offering the Federation's assistance to the International Association of Machinists in their fight against the piece work and bonus system was adopted.

Preceding the address, there will be a half hour musical program, featuring Pasquale Santa Emma, trumpeter. The meeting begins at 7:30 o'clock.

HAVANA, Oct. 8.—Prediction that Cuba's cane crop would be inferior to the one of 1919, and that its product would not reach the market before February, 1922, was made in a bulletin issued by the sales commission which represents holders of a considerable portion of this year's unsold crop. Loss of the crop in the Oriente region and the abandonment of many cane fields were reasons offered by the bulletin for the forecast. A prediction of 3,300,000 tons was estimated.

LAB ORREITERATES APPEAL AGAINST SYNDICALISM LAW

Dispute Only Second to Oil Faction Argument Is Result When Work of Executive Board Is Attacked on Floor

In an internal struggle second only to that precipitated by the Stickel and Jacobs faction dispute of the first two days, the twenty-first annual convention of the California State Federation of Labor passed a criminal syndicalism repeal resolution and placed the carrying out of the program in the hands of the executive board at the afternoon session yesterday.

The session was marked by an attack upon the conduct of the business of the federation as done by the executive committee during the past year, which called for spirited replies from President Daniel C. Murphy and Secretary Paul Scharrenberg, in which they affirmed the policy of the executive committee to accomplish the ends sought by organized labor, but in which they pointed to the arduous program which confronted the committee in gaining those ends.

Overturn Committee Report

Introduced and recommended referred to the executive board for action of the officers reports committee headed by Seth R. Brown, the resolution was finally passed on the floor of the convention and the carrying-out—the program—which is called for left in the hands of the executive board, which was given a vote of confidence. This amendment to the motion to send the resolution to the committee was fathered by W. L. Yarrow of Bakersfield.

While the resolution is aimed at the repeal of the so-called criminal syndicalism law and that section was the subject of the dispuate yesterday, it also covers a score of other ends which labor seeks in accordance with the construction it places upon constitutional rights.

The Resolution

Whereas, The American Declaration of Independence, adopted July 4, 1776, states that governments are instituted to secure to the people the right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, an dthat governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed; and

Whereas, Democracy cannot exist unless all power is preserved to the people; and

Whereas, The only excuse for the existence of government is to serve, not to rule the people; and

Whereas, These basic principles of the American genius of government are now being violated, and undermined, by action of State and Federal authorities, too numerous to mention; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the California State Federation of Labor in Twenty-first Annual Convention assembled, that it herewith calls upon all branches of government, State and National, to return to the original purpose of their creation; and, be it further

Resolved, That the California State Federation of Labor insists upon the restoration of civil liberties and American doctrines and their preservation inviolate, including free speech, free press, free assemblage, right of asylum, equal opportunity, and trial by jury; return of the Department of Justice to the functions for which it was created, to the end that laws may be enforced without favor and without discrimination; amnesty for all persons imprisoned because of their patriotic insistence upon their constitutional guarantees, industrial activities or religious beliefs; repeal of all so-called "espionage," "sedition," and "criminal syndicalist" laws; protection of the right of all workers to strike, and stripping from the courts of powers unlawfully usurped by them and used to defeat the people and foster big business, especially the power to issue anti-labor injunctions and to declare unconstitutional laws passed by Congress.

Japanese Amendment

The Japanese amendment was adopted unanimously and follows:

Proposition No. 12—Presented by William J. Mitchell of Vallejo Central Labor Council of Vallejo.

Referred to officers' reports committee.

Whereas, The California State Federation of Labor at its twentieth convention assembled at Bakersfield, Cal., adopted resolutions 4, 12, 56, 58, pertaining to the Japanese question upon the Pacific coast; and

Wehereas, Certain propositions as contained in the aforesaid resolutions will be placed before the people of California, and known as Amendment No. 1; and

Whereas, The said amendment is being sponsored by the organization known as the Japanese Exclusion League of California, of which the State Federation is an important part; and

Whereas, It is the intention of the Japanese Exclusion League of California, upon the conclusion of the November election, to carry through the channels of federal legislation, further amendments, to curtail the growing menace of non-assimilable races on our western slope; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the California State Federation of Labor in convention assembled, Oct. 4 1920, at Fresno, Cal., that we call upon all affiliated councils and local unions to render their moral and financial support to the Japanese Exclusion League of California.

The committee on officers' reports ran afoul of a lengthy debate in the presentation of its report, which was finally adopted. Trenchant excerpts from it follows:

Officers' Reports

"The report of President Daniel C. Murphy portrays to the reader concisely and intelligently the chief events which have marked the ever forward march of the labor movement in the State of California during the past year.

"While there was a considerable amount of disturbance in the movement during that period, due in a large measure to the attempted adoption of the alleged "American" plan in certain sections and the ever increasing costs of living, the movement as a whole made gratifying gains in the shape of recognition, increased wages, shorter hours and better working conditions.

"In touching upon the question of the organization of teachers, President Murphy urges that every help be extended to the women and men who make up this most necessary profession in assisting them to perfect their unions, and he says, "the necessity for prompt action will be understood when it is explained that in several instances school authorities have discharged teachers for no other reason except that they have joined a labor union.

"The failure to secure the necessary number of signatures defeated the attempt to place upon the November ballot an initiative measure proposing the abatement of the grafting employment agency evil, such failure being caused by the uninterestedness of the workers of the State.

"Your Committee earnestly recommends that steps be taken by our incoming Executive Council to remedy this evil by legislative action at the session of the State Legislature in January 1921.

Japanese Exclusion

"The question of Japanese exclusion was closely followed by the officers of the Federation and in a large measure their efforts were responsible for the formation of the California Oriental Exclusion League and they also actively assisted in circulating the petitions which placed the "Alien Land Law" (No. 1) on the ballot. The principal features of the measure are summarized in the report as follows:

"Under existing California law, land owning by aliens not eligible to citizenship is prohibited and the leasing to a maximum of three years.

"It is now proposed to stop leasing entirely. If you can limit, as now, you can prohibit absolutely, as proposed. Land leasing as now practiced, with renewals and subterfuges, is practically as bad as the outright ownership of land. Further, it is proposed to put a stop to such rank evasions of the California land laws as recently were brought to light where elder Japanese, not eligible to citizenship, were manipulating the affairs of minor Japanese children—born here and therefore citizens—through guardianships and trusteeships, to their own advantage and in absolute defiance of the laws of California.

"Also, it is proposed to put a stop to evasions of our land laws through the control or ownership of stock in corporations dealing in land, a common practice at present and a very dangerous one.

"Finally, provision is made for the escheat at the State of land illegally held as defined in this amendment; and punishment is provided where conspiracy can be proved against two or more people to evade the provisions of the law. This would include the white seller as well as the brown or yellow buyer."

And in commenting on this subject President Murphy says:

"Once or twice it has been intimated that the above mentioned changes in the land law do not concern the workers in the cities. It should be borne in mind, however, that agriculture is the basic industry of all industries, and in California it is preeminently so, leading all others in value of production by $500,000,000 annually. So the question is: Shall the Japanese control this output and reap the profits, or the white people? Shal lthe Japanese dominate, or the white people?"

Although the proposal for a night session last night was submitted to a vote, it was beaten by a decisive majority, leaving the convention with probably the busiest session of the week scheduled for today.

BOARD REJECTS FIREHOUSE BID

City Unwilling to Pay High Price For Construction

Inability of the city to get a bid on its proposed firehouse in keeping with the estimate of the architect may lead the board of trustees to abandon plans for its construction until building materials are cheaper. At a special meeting of the trustees held yesterday the bid of Howard Dickey, which was the only one received at the last regular meeting, was pronounced too high, and the trustees agreed to reject this bid at the next regular meeting. Dickey's bid was $16,528 with extras which ran it up to approximately $18,000.

The city clerk was notified that the bid would be formally rejected.

The original estimate of the architects of the firehouse, Swartz & Ryland, was $12,000. Additions desired by the fire department brought this estimate up somewhat, but the trustees felt that the last bid was higher than the city ought to pay for the building.

Members of the board, it is learned, in view of the recent tendency of prices in many lines to decline, believe that the firehouse may be built later at less expense.

ARMISTICE DAY TO BE OBSERVED

President Orders Flags at Half Mast on Nov. 14

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—President Wilson today directed that on Sunday, November 14, the American flag be displayed at half-mast on all public buildings and naval and military posts "as a token of the nation's participation in the memorial services held for the heroic American soldiers, sailors, marines and others who gave their lives to their country in the world war."

In connection with the order, the president authorized this statement:

"There has been transmitted to me a suggestion that I name Sunday, November 14, as Armistice Sunday in order that the religious services held throughout the country on that day may be given an especial note of remembrance for the heroic services and sacrifices of those who died for America in the world war.

"The selection of a formal day which shall annually be set aside to commemorate our participation in the world war will some day doubtless be effected through legislation and already Memorial Day, rich in heroic memories, has acquired additional significance as being appropriate also to the commemoration of the heroes of the world war. I am, however, so heartily in favor of the suggestion that has been made that I take this occasion to express publicly my approval of the idea.

"November 11, 1918, will always be memorable as the beginning of the end of the most terrible and destructive of all wars. Our beloved country took a noble part in hastening the arrival of the day hailed by the whole world as the dawn of peace; but close upon the day of victory followed realization of loss, and the anniversary will bring with it solemn thoughts to the minds of men who fell, sympathy for their living relatives, and those religious reflections in which nations, like individuals, must seek hope and consolation. That November 14, this year being the Sunday immediately following the anniversary, should be observed in all our churches by suitable memorial services for the heroic American soldiers, sailors and marines, who gave their lives to their country in the world war, seems to me eminently fitting and proper, and I commend the suggestion to those who conduct such services.

"I shall direct that the flag of the United States at all military posts, naval stations, on vessels and on buildings of the United States be displayed at half mast on that day as a token of the nations' participation in the exercises elsewhere held."

WARRANTS OUT, BAY VIOLATORS

F. J. Mannix and Five Others Charged Under Dry Act

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—Warrants for the arrest of Francis J. Mannix, prominent attorney and former census supervisor for San Francisco, and five others on a charge of conspiring to violate the federal prohibition enforcement law, were issued by United States Commissioner Francis Krull today after having been sworn to by the United States district attorney. Bail was placed at $10,000 in each warrant.

The others mentioned in the warrant are J. Foppiano, Jr., and Paul Vannucci, proprietors of a road house; Robert Jefferies, whisky broker, and two "John Does" to whom the road house partners were alleged to have applied for a quantity of whisky. Mannix is accused of being intermediary in the deal. The two John Does are known as "Hansen" and "McGrath," according to a statement made today by Mannix. They disappeared, he said, after accepting payment for the liquor and then failing to deliver it.

"My connection with the case was legitimate," Mannix said. "I acted merely in my capacity as an attorney. The understanding was that I merely was to deliver the money to Hansen and McGrath for the delivery of the liquor and there my interest ended."

Dissolve Restraint Texas Candidates

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 8.—The temporary injunction issued by the third court of civil appeals restraining the Texas secretary of state from certifying the names of candidates of any political party for positions on the official state ballot in the November election was dissolved today.

The court affirmed the decision of District Judge Ireland Graves which denied the application of A. T. Morris for a permanent injunction to restrain the secretary of state from certifying the names of the American party candidates for a position upon the ballot, upon the contention that the party has not complied with Texas election laws.

TERIJOKI, Finland, Oct. 7.—Tom and Anna Belling, American circus performers, are unable to enter Finland because there are in the entourage a trained donkey and several educated dogs. The Bellings were in Russia and after several trying months, obtained permission from the soviet government to leave the country. They reached the Finnish border in safety but found the regulations against shipment of livestock from Russia prevented them from entering Finland, unless they abandon their performing animals.

SIX MORE HELD REVOLT PLOT

Change Plans to Slay Prominent Officials of State

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Arrests of six other radicals in St. Paul and Milwaukee are pending, following the seizure here last night of Nicolai John Jassinski and John Holoeny and a quantity of anarchistic literature declared to have disclosed a revolutionary plot, the department of justice announced today. Warrants have been issued.

Federal authorities allege the plotters also planned to assassinate the more important officials of state.

Jazzinski and Holoeny will be arraigned under two charges: first, the violation of the espionage act and the other conspiracy to overthrow the government. Bonds of $25,000 each will be asked, according to John Boddie, assistant district attorney.

Sentences to terms of hard labor in addition to deportation will be asked hereafter in cases of convicted radicals, J. P. Rooney, investigator of the department of justice said today under the new federal plan of prosecution.

Hosiery Workers Accept Reduction

LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 8.—Employes of the Lawrence Manufacturing Company, hoping to make it possible to continue operations of the company's hosiery and underwear mills here, have offered to accept a reduction in wages.

Thirty-five hundred persons are employed in the hosiery and underwear departments. The underwear machines were shut down today and the hosiery workers will be laid off shortly, the local agent announced, because there is no market for the company's products due to high prices.

The Bay State Cotton Corporation, employing about 600 hands, shut down last night.

Charles Hackett, American Tenor to Be Musical Club Attraction

CHARLES HACKETT,

American tenor, who is one of the chief attractions before the Fresno Musical club this season.

Charles Hackett, the American tenor, has scored a tremendous hit at the Metropolitan Opera House during the past season, and Fresno is particularly blessed in having him on the list of attractions coming to the Fresno Musical Club this winter. One of his principal roles at the Metropolitan was that of Rolita Cavaradossi in Tosca, when he played with Geraldine Farrar. Though the Metropolitan audiences usually demand dramatic tenors, Charles Hackett, with a lighter voice, but one not lacking in beauty of tone or resonance, is proving a favorite. He will be heard in Fresno at the second concert of the Musical Club, on Monday evening, December 6.

The seat sale for the concerts is now being held at the White theater, the secretary being at the box office each day until October 18 (the opening concert) from 10 a. m. to 1 p.m. No single concert tickets will be sold, each ticket being for the full course of seven attractions.

ADD TYPHOID TO QUARANTINE LIST

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 8.—A regulation promulgated by the state board of health following a meeting yesterday added typhoid to the list of communicable diseases for which quarantine will be imposed in California.

It is not intended to enforce strict quarantine as in the case of smallpox or diphtheria, Dr. Wilfred H. Kellogg, director of the bureau of communicable diseases, but the patient and family will be kept under surveillance and a laboratory test will be required before a patient is released.

The regulation also provided modified quarantine for persons known to be typhoid carriers.

The board today declined to act on a proposal to establish a hospital for treatment of drug addicts, the members holding they were without authority to proceed.

URGE IMPROVEMENT OF AMERICAN PORTS

CHICAGO, October 8.—Resolutions asking congress to authorize the department of commerce to improve American ports were passed at the closing session here today of the convention of the American Association of Port Authorities. The organization wants the department given power to publish tonnage figures as well as valuation reports on annual imports and exports, a uniform system of nomenclature for port charges and also requests that a committee be appointed to confer with technical bodies concerning the improvement of port facilities.

Benjamin Thompson of Tampa, Fla., was elected president of the association, and M. Fennell, Jr., of Montreal, secretary. John H. McCallum, San Francisco, and Sir David Watson, Quebec, were elected vice-presidents.

MANY DUTCH PLAN COMING TO AMERICA

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Assurance has been given to S. L. Veenstra, secretary of the Netherlands Emigration League by Immigration Commissioner Wallis on Ellis island, that the United States authorities will aid in placing many immigrants from Haland who are planning to "They are a most prosperous people many thousands of Dutch were applying for passports to the United States and that he had established a branch of the Emigration League here.

"There are three principal causes for our people wanting to come here," said Mr. Veenstra. "First, there is naturally an accumulation of emigrants because of the years of war. Secondly, Holland is being overcrowded by thousands of war refugees from other countries, and, thirdly, many of our people are simply sick of Europe and all things European. But let it be understood that they are not leaving Holland because they cannot make a living there. They are a most prosperous people and most of them will buy homes in the United States. They prefer farming and for that reason I am sure they will be welcome here."

PUBLISH JOURNAL FOR IRISH POLICE

DUBLIN, Sept. 21.—(By Mail.)—The importance attached by the government to the maintenance of the morale of the Irish police is shown by the fact that it has taken the unprecedented step of publishing a newspaper called the weekly summary for circulation in all the police barracks. Three numbers have already appeared and been distributed to the police. It contains brief and striking editorials eulogizing the force, and assuring them of support in their trying situation.

The resignations from the Royal Irish Constabulary and the additional pressure of patrol work have led to the recruiting of large numbers of men in England, principally former soldiers attracted by the high wages. The attitude of Sinn Fein toward them is one of extreme bitterness, while the old members of the force are more favorably looked on, and attempts are made to induce them to resign.

The new men could not be provided with the ordinary police uniform, and have had to be content with a uniform partly police and partly military. This has earned them the nick-name of "The Black and Tans." The Weekly Summary has special encouragement for them. Extracts from it have been published in the Dublin newspapers, one of which says that "The Black and Tans will go on with their job—the job of making Ireland once again safe for the law-abiding and an appropriate hell for those whose trade is agitation and whose method is murder." This exhortation is denounced in the Nationalist Press as an encouragement to the reprisals which provoked the condemnation of General Macready.

Another editorial comment in the police organ referring to hunger strikers in the prisons says: "Those who plot and participate in the murder of policemen, who are only doing their lawful duty must not expect much sympathy when they are caught and get the punishment they richly deserve."

The Irish government has now appointed three well known English journalists as their means of communicating to the press accounts of outrages and statements of the attitude of the authorities. One is located in Dublin Castle, one in Belfast and one in Cork. In Dublin the pressmen were asked to call twice a day for communications. After a time the Journalists' Association passed a resolution of protest and declined to attend any more. The newspapers, however, are able to print the communications which they obtain from the men who do not feel bound by the resolution. The Sinn Fein newspaper Young Ireland warmly commends the attitude of the Journalists' Association.

BAY JURY OPENS LIQUOR PROBE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—The Federal Grand Jury began today an investigation into alleged unlawful withdrawals of liquor from bonded warehouses in San Francisco through misuse of government permits. Government agents have been preparing evidence for several days.

Former wholesale liquor dealers and prohibition enforcement deputies are expected to be among those called as witnesses.

Liquor brokers and others were charged in complaints made to the United States attorney's office with having withdrawn illegally large stocks of liquor. Mrs. Gladys Warburton, acting prohibition enforcement director, denied that there had been improper use of her permits during her term of office which began a few weeks ago following the death of Loren Handley, prohibition director, in an automobile accident.

HAMBURG SHIP BARGAIN WAITS

Admiral Benson Says He Feels U. S. Interests Preserved

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Final approval has never been given by the Shipping Board to the Hamburg-American-American Ship and Commerce Corporation contract for operation of American ships on former German trade routes, Chairman Benson declared. The chairman said he had given his indorsement to the plan and was still convinced that the agrement was for the best interesst fo the American merchant marine, but that action by the board awaited appointment of the full board of seven members created by the Jones merchant marine act. Admiral Benson added that he would do everything possible to push the proposition. Repeated attacks on the agreement, Chairman Benson declared, only demonstrated more clearly the value to the United States of the proposed opening up of the former German routes to American shipping. Foreign competitors oppose the presence of American passenger vessels on the north Atlantic, he said, because it is feared that the United States will dominate the passenger trade on those routes.

Kermit Roosevelt, secretary of the American Ship and Commerce Corporation before its absorption by the Harriman interests, after a conference with Chairman Benson today, declared his withdrawal from the concern was due to "the doubtful allegiance of some new elements" in the company.

"It was only after much consultation with General Goethals and Mr. Clegg regarding the nature of the proposed Hambur-American alliance, and the doubtful allegiance in the American Ship and Commerce Corporation that I concluded that the only course open was resignation from the company," Mr. Roosevelt said. "I felt that without General Goethals and Mr. Clegg, American interests would have little hope for protection in the subsequent and final contracts. What I have since seen has, in my judgment, proved conclusively the correctness of my decision."

The French government has asked the United States for information regarding the course to be followed by the shipping board in putting former German passenger ships on the German trade routes, it was said today at the state department. No protest had been made, officials said, but the French government wished to be informed concerning reports that through transfer of the former enemy liners to the American Ship and Commerce Corporation, the vessels would eventually find their way back to their former owners, the Hamburg-American line.

Obregon Is Guest El Paso Exposition

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 5.—President-elect Alvaro Obregon of Mexico, Governor W. P. Hobby of Texas, Governor O. A. Larrazolo of New Mexico and Governor Thomas E. Campbell of Arizona were guests today of the international exposition and military carnival which is being held here this week.

In the course of an address General Obregon said:

"A year ago Mexico was recognized by the United States. The situation today is very different; today we are not recognized by the United States, but we have the respect and confidence of the American people, and I would rather have the respect and confidence of the people of the United States than official recognition of the government."

EUROPE RESENTS "AMERICA FIRST"

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(By Mail)—The slogan "America First" is unpopular among Europeans, who deem it an expression of selfishness, according to Rev. Charles S. Macfarland, general secretary of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, who has just returned from a series of religious conferences in Switzerland and a speaking tour of western European cities.

"For an American to be in Europe at this time is humiliating, and sometimes almost disheartening," said Dr. Macfarland. "I found the people there confused. They do not know what to make of America's present loofness; it seems to them such a sharp contrast to our attitude during the war. I found the people of Europe industriously working at the problems of reconstruction. While their economic needs are great, one of their greatest needs at the present time is that of moral support.

"The American nation and the American people, on the whole, have not as yet suffered irretrievably in the estimation of Europeans," continued Dr. Macfarland. "They still believe in us and look to us for help. But thoughtful Europeans are disturbed about one phrase which frequently reaches across the sea—'America First.' To them it sounds like the words that used to come from across the Rhine, 'Deutschland uber Alles'—not with the same aggressiveness, but with something of the same selfishness."

PORTO RICANS NOW HOLDING THEIR SUGAR

SAN JUAN, P. R., Sept. 15.—(By Mail)—No Porto Rico sugars are being forced on the market. Whatever sugars there are here are being held for better or worse.

(This is evidently being done to prevent refiners from reducing the price of raw sugar, as the Cuban growers have asked the Porto Rican producers to join them in an attempt to prevent a cut in prices.)

For the first time in many years, two weeks have gone by without the shipment of any sugar from the island. Approximately 640,000 bags, or 80,000 tons remain in the island for export.

Porto Rico produced in this year's crop 485,887 short tons of sugar, according to a final statistical report just issued by J. Ruiz Soler, Secretary of the Porto Rico Sugar Producers' Association. This is 7,000 tons in excess of his estimate made at the commencement of the grinding season and about 80,000 tons greater than the production during the crop season of 1918-19. It is also 20,000 tons in excess of the production during 1917-18.

Export figures show 367,000 tons of sugar shipped from this crop. Local consumption is estimated at 55,000 tons.

Evidently People Have Waited For the Very Thing Ford Started

---Our Effort to Reduce Clothing Prices Has Surely Been Appreciated

Henry Ford sure started something when he reduced the price on his automobiles, for since then everything is coming down, and we were the first in Fresno to announce a reduction in price on clothing and gents' furnishings, and we did it for this reason: Sooner or later they would drop and every merchant stands to lose something, and we preferred to take our loss at this time than later on.

This sale has surely been appreciated by the men of Fresno, for we have sold a lot of merchandise in the last two days, and if you want to save a good sum on your winter outfit, now is the time to do it at Levys'

ELLIS ISLAND OVER-RUN BY IMMIGRANTS

Over 10,000 at a Time Have to Be Kept There

Millions on Way From Europe Say Officials

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Ellis Island, melting pot of the world, is boiling as never before, with the greatest flood of immigrants in history pouring into it. Millions more are clamoring at Europe's exits, anxious to come to America and Congress will be pressed to quickly enlarge both the physical plant and working force on the island to more than double its present size, according to Immigration Commissioner Frederick A. Wallis.

Since early last summer, aliens have been entering America's front door in unprecedented numbers. The problem of housing them until they can be admitted to the country has become painful to all parties concerned. Recently, hundreds of immigrants detained for investigation had to sleep standing up, as the floors, benches and chairs already were filled with the backwash from the congested dormitories.

Booked Year Ahead

The tide is certain to become greater with each passing month, Commissioner Wallis felt assured. Steamship operators informed him their accommodations are booked to capacity for twelve months ahead. Government officials announced 267,000 applications had been made for passports in Poland alone, mostly by Jews, while hundreds of thousands in other parts of Europe also were anxious to cross the seas to this country.

"Between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 Italians are seeking domiciles and citizenship here and more than 3,000,000 Poles want to come over," said Commissioner Wallis, who attributed the exodus from Europe to the harsh post-war living conditions and the economic situation.

Frequently the commissioner asked the aliens why they left Europe. Most of them replied "no money, no eat," he said. Many Italian farmers declared they quit their native soil because of the danger from explosions when plowing in former battlegrounds.

Added to the prospective influx of immigrants from the countries of the war allies will be millions from Germany who, as soon as the way is clear, will seek passage to America, the immigration authorities have been informed by reliable and official sources.

"The immigration in the future will be limited only by the capacity of the vessels," Commissioner Wallis said.

In the meantime while wondering how many years it will be before aliens quit coming across the sea at their present rate, Ellis Island workers are perplexed over their existing problems. The normal capacity of the island is reached when 2000 immigrants are inspected daily. Yet on a recent day 10,400 aliens were fed there. During another day the same week 11,000 persons were detained in the holds of the vessels which brought them over, while officials struggled with the work of examining the 4000 then on the island. For two days the island doors were shut against incomers, who remained on boats.

The rapidity of handling them depends upon the aliens themselves. Commissioner Wallis has found that some groups are easier to examine than others, while care must be taken in separating the many nationalities which make the island conversation sound like that at the Tower of Babel.

"If we only English, Irish and Jews there will be a free-for-all fight in ten minutes," said the commissioner. "The English won't eat with the Jews and call them 'foreigners.'"

Must Examine Seamen

Three recent additions to the tasks of the immigration officials have been made more tedious the handling of the aliens. Much time is required in visaing passports and the literary test which all immigrants must pass also causes trouble. Each alien must read in one language before being admitted. In addition to its labors with the aliens, the immigration officials examine every seaman entering the port, even though he left it but a few days before. In the last eight months 800,000 seamen have been examined here.

Despite congestion, everything possible is being done to make the treatment of the aliens on the island humane. Babies are given warm milk and crackers, candy, cigarettes, fruits and other comforts are furnished adults. Sunday concerts, with bands, grand opera stars and others on the program, are held weekly. For those who cannot find a bed, 10,000 army blankets recently received from Washington are available for improvised sleeping equipment.

Ellis Island authorities are trying not to keep the aliens in the holds of the vessels after arrival and are striving not to delay commerce by holding ships in that manner and so far they have succeeded. But no matter how fast the immigrants arrive, the examinations will not be made less rigid, but will continually be made more severe, Commissioner Wallis said.

Aliens who are refused admittance and the percentage of rejected ones has increased greatly since before the war—are returned to the port from which they came at the expense of the steamships. Most of those admitted to America are going to industrial centers, but many are flocking to rural districts and farms, the commissioner said.

Invalid Travels Five Hundred Miles in His Wheel Chair

B. E. Davis, a Los Angeles invalid, desired to see more of California than his immediate neighborhood so he started out alone in his wheel chair for a trip to San Francisco over the auto highway along the Pacific shore. The trip of 500 miles took Davis a month and he arrived in San Francisco in the best of shape. The photo shows Mr. Davis on his arrival in San Francisco after propelling himself the whole distance.

Begin Grading of 1920 Walnut Crop

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—Grading of the 1920 walnut crop was begun at the annual meeting of members and directors of the California Walnut Growers Association. C. Thorpe of Los Angeles, general manager of the association, said prices would probably be announced tomorrow.

"I am confident walnuts will show one of the biggest reductions for the year of any food product," Mr. Thorpe said. "They will get back to practically pre-war figures."

S. S. MEETS IN TOKYO THEATER

TOKYO, Oct. 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sessions of the world's Sunday school convention which were interrupted yesterday afternoon by the fire which destroyed the great hall where the first meeting was held, will be resumed tomorrow in the beautiful Imperial theater. The playhouse was offered the committee in charge by its founder, Viscount Eiichi Shibusawa, president of the American Japan Association. Premier Hara offered the committee use of the halls of the Japanese diet, if necessary.

Other meetings are to be held in Manila, Hongkong and Canton and the Sunday school message will be carried from Tokyo to Jerusalem through meetings in Japanese provinces, Korea, China, Singapore, Colombo, India, Cairo and Palestine.

Delegates to the convention are unanimous in praise of Miss Caroline Schereschewsky, an American missionary and daughter of a former Episcopal bishop to China, for her coolness during the fire. It is said her heroism prevented a disastrous stampede at the tabernacle. She spoke commandingly in Japanese and English and induced an orderly retirement of the crowd regardless of risk to herself.

Several persons, including some Americans, were knocked down and walked over during the rush for the exits, but were not badly hurt.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Max Steinbeck, 15 year-old pupil of the De Witt Clinton high school, who came to the United States from Russia several years ago, was presented with a certificate of honorable mention today for his essay written in a contest arranged by the War Department on "what are the benefits of an enlistment in the army." Young Steinbeck's essay was one of many thousands received from school children throughout the country.

SOON TO ACT ON CHINESE POOL

World Financiers Will Meet New York, October 11

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Organization of the international consortium for the financial and economic assistance of China will be perfected at conferences of the American, British, French and Japanese delegates here beginning October 11. These meetings follow the return from the Far East of Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Company, who last winter at the instance of international bankers visited Japan and arranged with the Japanese banking group for its entry into the consortium on the same terms as other banking interests. Lamont later visited China.

Forthcoming meetings will be held at the Chamber of Commerce. Japan's representative already is here. The American group will comprise thirty-seven banking houses.

BELGIUM BLARING WITH BRASS BANDS

BRUSSELS, Sept. 19.—(By Mail.)—American visitors to Belgium this summer were greatly struck with the almost incredible number of brass bands marching in the hundreds of street parades, celebrations of one sort or another, which occurred almost daily at Brussels or Antwerp.

In enjoying her first period of peace since the war, Belgium is observing every possible fete day, and each of these seems to call out literally scores of brass bands, each parish or each workmen's organization seeming to have one. Bicycle touring clubs also have them, mounted on bicycles, and even fishing clubs, off for a Sunday holiday with pole, hook and line, take their musicians along.

One Sunday morning, a day of church fete parade, the correspondent counted eighty-six bands passing his hotel during the morning.

You Need Shoes--Buy Them Now

We Will Refund in Cash Any Further Reductions

It seems to be the popular feeling that prices are going to come down very shortly. I do not believe this possible in the shoe craft, but to protect my customers I have adopted the following plan:

IN EVENT THAT SHOES SHOULD DROP, EITHER THROUGH FACTORY REDUCTIONS OR OTHER CAUSES, I WILL REFUND IN CASH THE EXACT DIFFERENCE BETWEEN PRESENT PRICES AND WHATEVER PRICES MAY PREVAIL BETWEEN NOW AND JAN. 1, 1921. I WILL ALSO PROTECT THOSE WHO HAVE ALREADY PURCHASED FROM AUG. 30, 1920.

We will keep a record of every purchase and will also request that you keep your sales tags when purchasing.

Under this plan there will be no advantage in waiting. We are protecting you and if there is any drop in prices we are the loser.

Our prices, I am confident, are the lowest to be found for shoes of like quality anywhere.

BLACKLIST FOR FIRE OFFICIALS

Negligent Owners of Property to be Listed In a Book

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—Negligent property owners whose carelessness in the past has contributed to the loss of 15,000 lives and the destruction of $250,000,000 annually by fire in the United States are going to be "blacklisted" by fire department officials in a number of cities this year in accordance with a plan of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. For weeks, in anticipation of the observance of Fire Prevention Day throughout the nation tomorrow, the following warning has been displayed on billboards, street cars and in other public places:

"Keep off the Fire Department's Blacklist!

"Prior to Fire Prevention Day, members of the uniformed force will make inspections of business and residential properties. All premises containing accumulations of rubbish, defective chimneys and flues, improper heating devices, or any other conditions constituting a public menace will be carefully noted and recorded.

"Chief, Fire Department."

Observance of Fire Prevention Day, which falls on the forty-ninth anniversary of the burning of Chicago, will be general throughout the United States, according to an announcement by the National Board of Fire Underwriters here, the governors of many states having issued proclamations in accordance with the request of President Wilson.

The New York City fire department, through its bureau of fire prevention, has planned a program which includes the issuance of 300,000 letters to school children and their parents, the display of 40,000 red placards in public places, the circulation of stereopticon slides in motion picture houses, the imprinting of "stickers" on 100,000 restaurant menus and city department letters, and the utilization of billboard space.

Special attention is devoted to the school children, because of the fact that in the United States there are, on an average, approximately five school fires every day. More than one-third of the school fires for the three years, 1916, 1917 and 1918, aggregating $13,973,303, were due to "strictly preventable" causes.

To educate the teachers and children in fire prevention, a mock trial entitled "The Trial by Fire" will be staged today in hundreds of school rooms. The dramatic personae includes, besides the judge and court officials, "the arch-criminal, Carelessness" and the defendants (eleven of the major causes of fire) as follows: Kerosene, Cigarette, Match, Electricity, Rubbish, Gas, Defective Chimney, Gasoline, Lightning, Bonfire and Spontaneous Combustion. Pupils will portray the various characters.

There will be prize essay contests and special observances in schools of many cities. In others the chambers of commerce will conduct ceremonies to call attention to the fire danger.

100,000 RUBLES FOR UNLOADING BAGGAGE?

LONDON, Sept. 20.—(By Mail.)—The bearded baggageman on the platform of the Kazan railway station in Moscow demanded 100,000 rubles for unloading from a car the baggage of fifteen British officers and The Associated Press correspondent when they arrived in Moscow in July after a journey from Siberia across Russia. It had taken ten minutes for him and a dozen other men to do the work.

The British officers were prisoners. They had been members of the Allied railway organization in Siberia under John F. Stevens, the American engineer, and had been captured by the Reds at the same time as Colonel Blunt and his party of American engineers at Novo-Nikolaevsk, Siberia, in November, 1919. The Americans had been released and left Russia through Vladivostok, but the British officers were sent to Moscow.

"One hundred thousand rubles for unloading baggage!" exclaimed Major R. E. Vimey, R. E., ranking officer. "We can't pay it; we're prisoners; we haven't the money." And he appealed to his bolshevik guard.

"Who asks 100,000 rubles for unloading baggage?" shouted the Bolshevik commissar in charge when informed of the situation. "Show me the man," he demanded. He was directed to the group of baggagemen.

"I'll pay you 100,000 rubles," he said sarcastically. "Yes, I'll pay you, seechas," using the Russian word indicating time, present or future, usually some indefinite hour in the distant future. "What are your names?" The names were given.

"And now you, Ivan Ivanovitch, and you, Peter and Nicholas and your companions," said the commissar when the names had been written, "you all are under arrest. You are servants of the state and you have no right to ask money for your work."

There were violent exclamations; frenzied waving of hands; tearful exclamations that the daily ration of black bread wouldn't keep a mouse alive. "Bread is 1000 rubles a pound," said one. "One hundred thousand rubles is 10 pounds of bread for each of us. Long ago, before the great war, 10 pounds of bread cost only half a ruble and what is that for handling a foreigner's baggage."

But the baggagemen went to jail for speculation; the British officers went to prison for counter-revolutionary activity in Siberia, and the American reporter went into house arrest for being in Russia without permission. Only the Bolshevik commissar remained free.

Raid Counterfeiting Printing Plant

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Secret service men today raided a printing plant here which is alleged to have turned out thousands of counterfeit internal revenue stamps to be used on cheap whisky and colored alcohol in bottles of standard brands. Cuts for counterfeiting official government franked envelopes and whisky labels bearing the names of a Baltimore distillery were also discovered.

PUTS BAN ON BOND WHISKY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—In an effort to check illegal liquor sales, Prohibition Commissioner Kramer has ordered withdrawal of whisky from bond temporarily suspended in New York City and parts of Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Mr. Kramer disclosed today that the ban had been on for a month and that he had received a request from A. V. Dalrymple, district prohibition agent at Chicago, for an order of similar natur eto be placed in effect similar nature to be placed in effect had not yet determined on a policy for that section.

Canadian Flyers Crash After Start

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 8.—Colonel Robert Leckie and Major Basil Hobbs, who hopped off this morning from Halifax for a trans-continental flight to Vancouver, crashed a short time later at Long Beach, 20 miles northeast of St. John. Their light seaplane was wrecked but the aviators apparently were uninjured, as Colonel Leckie were uninjured, as Colonel Leckie telephoned here for another flying boat.

The two Canadian air force aviators, who took off at 8 o'clock for Riviere du Loup on the first leg of their journey, sped over this city at 10:45 apparently going strong. Colonel Leckie's urgent message for another seaplane was interpreted here as meaning that he intended resuming his flight immediately.

FOURTH GAME OF SERIES AT CLEVELAND TODAY

TEAMS WILL RENEW FIGHT FOR WORLD'S BASEBALL LAURELS

Indians Are Confident That They Can Turn Tables on Dodgers

CLEVELAND, Oct. 8.—Safely encamped upon their own reservation, the Cleveland Indians, American League pennant winers, will renew their battle for world series baseball honors tomorrow. The Brooklyn National conquerers of the Speaker tribe in two out of three of the eastern games, are likely to find their rivals a far different combination from that which fell twice before the attacks of the Robins at Ebbets Field.

Cleveland fairly radiates confidence tonight and the Indians cannot fail to be inspired to greater baseball play by the calm assurance and backing which refuses to concede further defeat for the home team.

Every atom of world series atmosphere, so utterly lacking during the first three contests in Brooklyn, has re-appeared at the western end of the circuit. Cleveland and its citizens are prepared to show the baseball world what home backing and rooting will do toward uplifting the players' morale and putting a winning punch into the attack of the Indians.

The world's series is an event not to be considered lightly in this section of the U. S. A. The honor of winning a major league pennant and the opportunity to compete for the championship of the baseball universe is not a club affair. It is community and civic matter of pride and co-operation. Consequently Cleveland has seen its duty and is doing it in a manner befitting the responsibilities of the occasion. The Cleveland club must win the game tomorrow.

Cleveland has concentrated her mind upon winning, and for fear that the community mind may not bear overwhelmingly upon Uncle Robbie and his eastern upstarts, the entire Great Lakes and middle western section is rushing to its assistance. At least that portion of the male population in which believes or hopes it has an outside chance of hotel accommodation or foothold inside the Indians' ball park. Hotels are swamped by the rush of fans from other cities, and ticket speculators take their lives in their hands every time they show the corner of a seat coupon peeping from their pocket.

Seating Capacity 30,000

Although the baseball amphitheatre holds less than 30,000 spectators, fully half that number of out-of-town fans are here tonight, clamoring for a place to sleep and a chance to buy a ticket at any price.

Rooms are unavailable except in private houses, for every hotel is quartering twice its normal quota. Tickets can still be had but at a high cost. Single seats for Saturday's contest were offered for sale at from 15 to 35 dollars, according to location. Despite the efforts of the club officials to discourage the practice, sales were readily made all afternoon and evening in the spread between these figures.

In such an atmosphere of enthusiasm it is not surprising that the spirits of the badly clawed Indians should promptly revive upon their arrival here today. Chief Tris Speaker and his warriors, once they felt the familiar trails under their spiked moccasins, chanted their war cry with renewed vigor and proclaimed that a Cleveland Indian is never defeated until his scalp lock is lost.

Dodgers Have Workout

Wilburt Robinson, the Robin's leader, had his Brooklynites out for preliminary maneuvers in the Cleveland Wigwam this afternoon. All he would say was: "We have the winning edge now and expect to hold it."

Close followers who have viewed the battles to date with impartial eyes express the opinion that the pennant will be won or lost back on the plains of Brooklyn. Those who lean strongly to the belief that the home team will win out here give the Indians three games and the Robins 1, which would still send the players back to the east for the final battle.

Much is expected to depend upon the manner in which the Brooklyn players react to the real world series rooting which they are sure to encounter at the coming games.

Speaker is expected to start Coveleskie, who turned back the National Leaguers in their first rush for the championship. The later has had three days rest and is reported to be eager to repeat his initial victory. Robinson will probably select either Jeff Pfeffer or Al Mamaux.

Western Football Teams Play Today

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Every western conference football team will get into action tomorrow, but in only two instances will conference elevens meet each other. Northwestern will play Minnesota at Evanston and Chicago will tackle Purdue here.

With Indiana already virtually eliminated from the championship race through its defeat by Iowa last Saturday it is considered probable that the list of "also fans" will be increased three through tomorrow's contests for defeat any eleven will make its championship possibilities slight.

The Minnesota-Northwestern game probably will attract most attention, for it is expected to show definitely how strong Minnesota's team is this year.

St. Paul to Meet Baltimore Today

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 8—Baltimore and St. Paul will meet in the third game of the interleague series tomorrow. The Baltimore team has won the first two starts. The teams will play here again Sunday and then move to St. Paul.

Agree to Arbitrate Bay Labor Disputes

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 8.—James ent unrest in the building trades here was stemmed today when labor officials, business men and bankers decided in a conference that all disputes shall be settled by arbitration. The striking plasterers and hod carriers will return to work in the morning.

LEMOORE MEETS VISALIA SUNDAY IN SECOND GAME

Pirates Not Discouraged Over First Defeat of Series

Steen and Miller Are Possible Hurlers For Contest

Second only to the world's series between Cleveland and Brooklyn is the second game for the Valley League championship to be played on the Lemoore diamond Sunday afternoon.

The Lemoore Cubs by their victory last Sunday have the edge on Visalia for the Valley baseball derby but apparently this has not caused the Visalia club to loose any of the confidence that they had before the series started.

The Visalia club lost the game last Sunday through the ineffective pitching of Bill Steen who seemed to be beaten before the gong started. The club itself played phenomenal ball behind him making plays at different times that bordered on the impossible and had Steen pitched the brand of ball that he has pitched for the last few games the Cubs would have been hard put to come away victors.

Cubs Are Confident.

The Cubs are full of confidence and fight, and claim that four games will tell the tale. They can not see where they should loose a game. Captain Boles in an interview states that there is very few clubs if any in the state that can beat his charges in a series of games. "I will pit Falkenberg against the best of them and I never saw a pitcher in all my experience have as much stuff as Miller has. It is almost impossible to beat such pitching," says Boles.

The Cubs line up for Sunday is scheduled to be Funk 2nd, Litschi ss., Knorner 1st., Hecker lf., Rose cf., Boles c., Gay 3rd., Ritchie rf., and Miller p., with Falkenberg and Clare in reserve.

Visalia's line up as announced today is Cohn 3rd, Stevens 2nd., Togni, rf., Mahoney lf., Brandon cf., Goodwin 1st., Conger ss., Dawson or Steen p., and Tifer, c.

DODGERS HAVE PHYSICAL BUILD ARE ELIGIBLE FOR SUPREME TEST

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Brooklyn Nationals have gone into the world's series with a team of athletes which so far as physical build is concerned, appears to be about right for a supreme test of the national game. Among the regulars the two oldest players of the team are First Baseman Konetchy and Shortstop Olson, each 35 years of age. That age is considered young among men in virtually every line of endeavor except athletics, but notwithstanding that Konetchy and Olson are the seniors of Manager Robinson's entry their work, both at bat and in the field, has been an important factor in winning the National League pennant for Brooklyn.

Average Age is 28.

The statistics of the Brooklyn players show that the average age is 28 years; the average weight 178 pounds and the average height about five feet, 11 inches.

What the Brooklyn club did in the world's series of 1916 against the Boston Red Sox gives little data upon which to base the chances of the Superbas in the coming series. There are now only eight men playing with Brooklyn who took part in the 1916 series. Zack Wheat in five games batted for .210, which is far below his normal average, and fielded for a mark of .933. Myers' batting average was .182 and his fielding mark 1.000. Johnston took part in three games, hit for .300 and fielded for .500, having one put out and one error. Miller had a batting average of .125 in two games and fielded perfectly. Olson went through the five games, hit for .250 and fielded for .810. The other three players in the 1916 series were pitchers Marquard, Pfeffer and Smith. Marquard did not get a hit in his two games, but had a perfect fielding record. Pfeffer in four games hit for .250 and fielded perfectly, while Smith in one game got a hit which netted him a batting average of .200. He accepted one put out and had seven assists for a perfect fielding record.

Pitchers Fall In 1916.

None of the three pitchers now with Brooklyn succeeded in winning a game in the 1916 series. Pfeffer took part in three games, pitching 10 2-3 innings. He was charged with one defeat. Smith pitched 13 1-3 innings in one game and was charged with the defeat, while Marquard pitched 11 innings in two games and was charged with defeats in both.

The statistics of the Brooklyn players follows.

4 TEAMS BUNCHED FOR FIRST PLACE IN COAST LEAGUE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—With the close of the Pacific Coast Baseball League season but nine days away, four teams are bunched on the last lap of the pennant race with almost equal prospects, and a fifth has a mathematical chance of winning the pennant as a result of today's games.

Vernon maintained the top rung of the percentage ladder, three and a half games ahead of Los Angeles, which replaced Seattle in second position by defeating the Siwashes.

San Francisco lost and is practically tied for third place with Seattle, the northerners holding a lead of .001 acquired through a tardy starting of the season.

Salt Lake is the long shot of the race not yet definitely eliminated. The Bees moved their percentage up a notch today by defeating the champions at Salt Lake.

ALL BIG THREE COLLEGE TEAMS TO CLASH TODAY

Harvard, Princeton and Yale Have Games Scheduled

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—With preliminary mettle-testing matches and a week of workouts under clear football weather behind them, the "big three" eastern college elevens, Harvard, Yale, and Princeton clash tomorrow with intersectional rivals. Most of the other large college teams in the east are slated to grapple with opponents from less [illegible] of the country. Harvard [illegible] at Cambridge. Little is known of the competitive strength of the Indians except that they waded into the season last week with a sweeping victory over a minor opponent. Harvard showed such [illegible] in crushing Maine last Saturday that partisans of the Crimson do not believe the invading midwesterners can halt the rush of the Cambridge eleven.

Princeton will meet Maryland while Yale goes into battle against North Carolina. [illegible]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—The body of a man found today with his skull crushed, [illegible], was identified tonight as E. L. Giles, forty years old, former saloon keeper and hotel proprietor [illegible].

Favonian Is Winner of Lexington's Stake For Two Year Olds

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 8.—In winning the Board of Commerce, which featured the grand circuit program today, Louie Grattan, driven by Vic Fleming, paced a two-mile in 2:00 flat, faster than any paces this year and tieing Prince Loree's record made the previous day as the fastest pacer of the year. Larkin to Hurl For Sun Maids Against Former Team Mates

DINUBA, Oct. 8.—The second game of the series between Madera and Dinuba for the baseball championship of the Northern San Joaquin Valley will be played promptly at 2:30 p. m.

In the absence of Pitcher Schultz, Dinuba's regular heaver, Gunner Larkin lately of the Hanford Prodigals will be in the box for Dinuba. Larkin is considered one of the best pitchers in the Valley and as he was once a member of the Madera team is anxious to hand them a defeat.

The lineups of the teams as announced here today at baseball headquarters will be as follows: Madera—Jimmy P. The Republican scoreboard will show the results of the game play by play which will enable the local fans to watch the game just as closely as though they were sitting on the board seats at the American League park in Cleveland.

FALL LEAGUE NOT READY; TEAMS TO CLASH ON SUNDAY

The managers of the proposed Fall League do not feel that they are just ready to start the season this Sunday, but are playing two games between the teams already entered.

The Fresno Athletic Club and Rosenbergs teams will play at Holmes Playgrounds and the Shaddows and Lefty Wright's team will lock horns at California Field. The Owls are working on the formation of their team but as yet they haven't all their players lined up. Just what team will take sixth place in the league is yet a problem. There are plenty of ball players who want to play, but a manager to back the team and captain to shoulder the responsibility of getting the players together and keeping the team work up in general are lacking.

The games will start at 2:30 sharp.

In a letter written from Willits, Mendocino county, Mrs. Abbott says that both she and her husband got the limit, and the huge ten pointer which her husband killed as declared by old-timers to have been the largest buck that was ever brought down in Trinity county. Mr. and Mrs. Abbott will return home this month.

GRAIN STOCKS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Wheat went sharply lower in price today with pressure heavy from the big Canadian surplus and with reports conflicting as to domestic offerings. The market closed unsettled at 4½ to 6¾c net decline with December $1.93½ to $1.94 and March $1.90¾ to $1.91. Corn lost 1¼ to 1⅛c and oats ⅝ to ¾c. In provisions, the outcome ranged from 35c setback to 27c advance.

Bears had the advantage in the wheat market throughout the day, especially in the late dealings when it appeared that free offerings from Canada were finding an outlet here and at other domestic centers. Slowness of export demand for United States wheat counted also as a depressing factor.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat. December corn reaching the lowest price yet this season.

Although advancing at first owing to an upturn in the hog market, provisions later were weakened by the action of grain.

WALL STREET FINANCES.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The stock market was unresponsive from the outset today, the shorts carrying their aggressive maneuvers to greater lengths than on any of the preceding days of the week. In their fairly successful tactics the professional element was assisted by technical conditions, such as the further abstention of public interest or support and prospects of stiffer money rates. The latter probability was foreshadowed by call loans at 7½ to 8 percent.

Rails ignored the reactionary trend for a time but fell back in the latter part of the session when the cheaper transportations were under renewed attack. The few rails of the day were of a negative character with nominal gains in miscellaneous issues. Sales were [illegible].

Exchange on London was at its highest quotation of the week and the Italian rate also made further recovery.

All classes of bonds, foreign and domestic, including liberties, were inclined to ease slightly. Total sales, par value $15,850,000. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Fire Destroys Ice Plant at Brawley

BRAWLEY, Calif., Oct. 8.—Fire believed to have originated in a box car standing by the Imperial Ice & Development Company plant No. 2 here today destroyed property said by the company to have been valued at $260,000. The icing sheds, 500 feet long, 10 box cars, three cars of cork and a part of the ice storage plant, with 5,000 tons of ice were lost. The El Centro fire department came to the aid of the local department and helped check the flames.

The Imperial Ice & Development Company, owner of most of the destroyed property, is a subsidiary of the Pacific Fruit Express lines.

Oregon Slayers to Be Hanged

PENDLETON, Ore., Oct. 8.—Elvin D. Kerby and John Laffebean were sentenced today by Judge G. W. Phelps to be hanged December 3, for the murder of Sheriff Til Taylor in a jail break July 25.

For the same crime, Emmet M. Bancroft has been sentenced to be hanged November 5, and Irvin Leroy Stoop and Floyd L. Henderson have been sentenced to life imprisonment.

Attorney Charles L. Bolin said a group of women sympathizers were raising a fund to appeal the cases of Kerby and Laffebean to the supreme court. A new trial was denied today by Judge Phelps.

Western College Will Be Well Launched on 1920 Drive

Early Season on Coast; Many Colleges to Do Battle Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—Football teams of far western universities and colleges next week will be fairly well launched on their drive for 1920 championship honors. First stages of practice are being passed. Saturday several early season games will be played and one week from Saturday will find several of the stronger elevens clashing.

Games between Pacific Coast Conference member schools will not start until late in the month. The first conference game will be played October 23 at Seattle between Washington and the Oregon Aggies. The following Saturday, October 30, will find the conference season on its way, with Oregon playing Stanford and the Oregon Aggies meeting California.

Many Suffer Loss of Stars.

Loss of stars of the 1919 elevens is faced by most of the conference teams. All the coaches, however, expect to fill their line and backfield holes from last year's freshmen or with new recruits from the upper classes.

Oregon, which claimed the 1919 championship, finds two 1919 stars, "Skeet" Manerud and Bill Steers, missing. Oregon's 1920 line, however, is predicted, will be strong, while the back field will contain several new men. "Vic" and "Tony" Jacobberger, the Leslie brothers, "Spike" and "Brick" and Mart Howard are 1919 veterans in the squad.

Washington State, with about fifteen varsity letter men on this year's squad, expects to have an experienced team. The two Hanley brothers, Roy and Harold, King, Jenne, Trommaldauser, Captain Fritz Hamilton, "Ruf" and Bob Schnebeley and "Dutch" Dunlap, veterans, are out for line positions. A host of 1919 freshmen, out for backfield posts, will make the veterans, Skadan, McIvor and Gillis hustle to hold their jobs.

Aggies Have Strong Turnout.

More than fifty men are turning out at the Oregon Agricultural College and are working under four coaches, the strongest staff ever organized by the Aggies. Many former stars have returned to the campus and if they all report and qualify, the Aggies line and backfield will contain many veterans. "Gus" Hickman, who was counted upon to take the place of "Cacil" Hubbard, 1919 left end, has suffered a stroke of paralysis and will be unable to play.

Evening practice will start soon at the University of Washington to defeat the early darkness, it is reported. Three Washington stars of 1919, Grimm, Smith and Thieson, are not coming back and the coaches say Washington's championship chances will be fair. Five backfield veterans are back. Washington is reported shy on punting material.

Stanford Lacks Veterans.

Stanford's team will not contain many veterans yet the Cardinal coaches hope to send a first-class eleven into the conference battles. Stanford's captain, "Fret" Holt will be kept out of the game by injuries. "Dink" Templeton, another backfield veteran, will not return. The other backfield men, Jack Patrick and Paul Campbell are touring Europe with the California Olympic games rugby team and will not return to the camp until October 15. Dick Arnett, former army player, who is trying for the backfield, is looked on as a tower of strength.

Morrison Kicking Star.

California, for the first time since returning to the American game, this year will have a kicking star in Morrison, right half. He averaged forty-two yards on his kicks in a recent club game and is also considered the best line plunger in the backfield. Eleven "C" men are on the squad and the coaches, it is said, are facing the question of placing their men, rather than developing them.

University of Southern California, at Los Angeles, according to reports received here, has one of the strongest teams ever turned out in the south. The list of players on the squad includes a wealth of veterans. The U. S. C. coaches already are urging the men and the students not to become over-confident.

NATION'S BEST CARS OFFERED IN SALE

Reductions of $250.00 to $1,000.00 Attract Many Car Buyers.

The mammoth automobile sale inaugurated the middle of this week by the L. D. Allen, Inc., is now holding the attention of every motorist in Fresno county. The fact that the nation's best cars have been placed on sale at reductions ranging from $250.00 to $1,000.00, is reason in itself that every man not now owning an automobile, should investigate the wonderful opportunities this sale offers to him to own a car.

Everyone enjoys the pleasure afforded by owning an automobile. Every family should own some kind of a car. In the majority of cases, a good used car is a better investment than a cheap new one. This is especially true if the price you pay for a used car is what the car is actually worth. Now, with every used car in our building reduced in price from $250 to $1,000, the buying of a used car from us at this time naturally is a real investment. The cars in this sale represent the world's best cars—not cheap inferior-make cars, but automobiles that have been on the market for years. These cars have been traded [illegible] Cole Aero-Eights. For instance—glancing over the cars on our sales floor, you will see such well-known cars as the Studebaker, Hudson, Oldsmobile, Maxwell, Ford, Saxon, Apperson, and many others too numerous to mention. These cars are all to be sold during this sale.

A Studebaker with good tires, in good condition, is priced to sell for $717.00.

An Oldsmobile which can hardly be told from new, is priced to sell for [illegible].

A Hudson—two extra tires—many extras is reduced to $562.00.

A Maxwell—a nice, little light touring car in fine running condition for $355.00.

Of course there are many high grade cars selling regularly around $1,000, that are priced to sell around $2,000. It is impossible to explain what real car value is being offered. You must see the many different makes of cars, the different models and the reduced prices before you can appreciate the startling automobile values now offered.

VOTES AGAINST ESCH-CUMMINS BILL JUSTIFIED

Former Congressman John I. Knowland Speaks to Convention

Urges Labor to Defeat Move to Kill State Initiative

"The action of the men who voted against the Esch-Cummins bill is justified," declared former Congressman John I. Knowland, publisher of the Oakland Tribune, in addressing the twenty-first annual convention of the California State Federation of Labor yesterday afternoon on the work of his recent congress and the position of labor in the legislative field.

He declared that the operation of the roads today showed that the service was no better than under government control despite the large increase in passenger and freight tariffs. "I wonder how long the Interstate Commerce Commission and the people of the United States are going to stand for this sort of stuff," he continued.

Former Congressman Knowland also spoke on amendment no. 4 on the ballot at the general election on November 2 stating that it was the duty of labor to rally to the defeat of the proposition which was calculated to kill the initiative in California. "If you don't do anything else, defeat the proposition," he said. "It is up to the workers of the state to fight the ballot and see that they are not crippled politically. Night and day, go down the line and destroy the Better America Federation and all similar organizations which are seeking to destroy the legislation of the people."

There is only one way in which to settle labor disputes, the newspaper publisher continued, and that, he said, is by means of a conciliatory body appointed by the chief executives. He stated that time could only tell how the labor provisions of the railroad legislation would work out, but that of one thing he was certain and that was that private control of the lines had not improved over the government control during the war.

In a rapid resume of the problems of labor today, he sketched the opposition to what he termed the labor movement as "expressed in legislation aimed against the laboring classes. He stated that as the state of war still existed, no constructive peace program has been outlined. He declared that labor had responded patriotically to the call of the country during the war and that tottering conditions behind the lines abroad had been upheld by the force of labor.

A well-defined movement not only on the Pacific coast but over the entire country is on to discredit labor, he stated. The railroad bill, in his opinion, furnished the best test for the clamor of the anti-strike situation. He sketched the history of the railroad legislation in both houses and stated that the "Kansas industrial court did not function any more than any other kind of anti-strike legislation can function in this country."

Will Collaborate on Sundya Closing

Decision was reached at the session of the labor convention yesterday to have all parties interested draw up a compromise measure on extended Sunday closing for presentation following the introduction of a majority and minority report on the proposition as presented. The resolution as introduced sought to reaffirm the stand taken at the nineteenth annual convention held at San Diego in urging a more drastic Sunday closing law. The proposition was presented by the Barbers' delegation.

In Department 1 judgment for the plaintiff amounting to $371.85 was awarded in the case of Louis Orman vs. D. Dhalla.

Sentence was continued to October 12 in the felony case against Ed Wildenfelt. In the felony case against Leonard Garcia sentence was continued to October 22. Both cases are in Department 2.

NEARLY HALF PEACH CROP GONE EAST

Growers Expecting 16 to 17 Cents For Their 1920 Crop

Forty percent of the dried peach crop of the California peach growers, amounting to about 7600 tons, had been shipped up to last night, according to J. V. Niswander, vice president and general manager of the association. The manager of the peach company was unwilling last night to say what the growers might expect as a net price on the association product this year, but it is no secret that well informed peach men anticipate that the association will be able to pay its growers sixteen or, possibly, seventeen cents for the 1920 crop.

Against this price of the association, local reports say that independent packers are paying from twelve to fourteen cents.

The peach company is well ahead of the same date of last year with respect to shipments, and Niswander says that thus far little difficulty has been experienced in getting cars for shipment. Practically all the crop is sold and the association should complete shipments by December 1. The crop this year is estimated at 22,960 tons.
